Introductory Message about the Work of the Senator

Senators are knowledge holders and are the equivalent of traditional Indigenous Elders on the PCMNO. They provide guidance and seek to share Métis culture and traditions with future generations. Senators not only sit on the PCMNO, but also on each Community Council and on Community Boards. Their principal roles are to say prayers, to act as peacekeepers, and to be role models for Métis youth.

Highlight of Key Achievements

- Being part of Hydro One negotiations to secure $27.5 million dollars for future use by the Métis Nation.
- Elder with the Northern Ontario School of Medicine to promote the Métis Nation of Ontario's culture.
- Going to schools and seniors homes to teach about the Métis culture and sing songs.
- Sitting on the Finance Committee and working to keep the organization functioning without a deficit.

Other Comments

I am a very active and outspoken member of the PCMNO. I consider myself to be a team player. I like to get things done and move forward towards my ultimate goal of self government.
