The following message was issued September 19, 2014.

On September 19, 2003, after ten years of litigation, the Supreme Court of Canada, in a unanimous judgment, declared that Steve and Bobby Powley as members of the Sault Ste. Marie Métis community had the Métis right to harvest and that this right is protected under section 35 of The Constitution Act, 1982. Because the Powleys had the courage of their convictions, and the full backing and support of the Métis Nation- Ontario, Métis rights were recognized and affirmed by the Supreme Court for the first time.

Every year on September 19, the Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) holds Powley Day, to recognize that the ground breaking Powley decision ushered in a whole new era of Métis rights in Ontario and across the Métis Homeland...”

Sincerely,
Gary Lipinski, President

The citizens of the Métis Nation of Alberta (MNA) went to the polls on October 4, 2013 to cast their votes in the MNA 2013 General Election.

Audrey Poitras was re-elected as provincial president for her seventh consecutive term. Poitras has led the MNA in this role for the past eighteen years. “The people have spoken, and I am honoured and humbled that citizens of all the MNA remain confident in my ability to lead our Nation,” said President Poitras.

President Poitras also went on to say “my renewed mandate is not about making changes but continuing on the path of moving the Nation forward. A key priority over the next four years will be to continue making progress on key initiatives such as health, education and the rights of all of our citizens.”

The Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) has been working to address the issue of violence against Aboriginal women almost since its inception. In November, 1994, the MNO which was barely a year old at the time, sent representatives to the first meeting to develop the Aboriginal Healing and Wellness Strategy (AHWS), a major focus of which was the prevention of violence against Aboriginal women. Now 20 years later, the MNO has developed victim services programs and is a full partner in Ontario’s Joint Working Group to End Violence Against Aboriginal Women and a signatory to the Framework to End Violence Against Aboriginal Women.

As part of its ongoing efforts to bring attention to violence against Aboriginal women, the MNO held a full-day workshop on the issue in Thunder Bay prior to the MNO’s Annual General Assembly (AGA). During the workshop, its provincial leadership including the Provincial Council of the MNO (PCMNO), Chartered Community Council Presidents and other community representatives, Captains of the Hunt and MNO staff were familiarized with all aspects of the violence against Aboriginal issue as well as the efforts currently underway by the MNO to take action. (See article below.)

During the MNO AGA itself, ending violence against Aboriginal women remained fresh in everyone’s mind not only because of the workshop but because of the tragic murder on Tina Fontaine in Winnipeg. As a result, MNO President Gary Lipinski brought forward a resolution, seconded by Sharon McBride, the Spokesperson for the Women’s Secretariat of the MNO (WSMNO), calling for a national inquiry on the epidemics of murdered and missing Aboriginal women and for the adoption of a Declaration to End Violence Against Aboriginal Women. The resolution passed by consensus (unanimously) and as required by the resolution, President Lipinski wrote Prime Minister Harper shortly afterwards to call for the national inquiry.

Addressing Violence Against Aboriginal Women

How the MNO is addressing the tragedy of violence against Aboriginal women

The MNO has been working to address the issue of violence against Aboriginal women almost since its inception. In November, 1994, the MNO which was barely a year old at the time, sent representatives to the first meeting to develop the Aboriginal Healing and Wellness Strategy (AHWS), a major focus of which was the prevention of violence against Aboriginal women. A PRAYER FOR OUR SISTERS

MNO workshop on Ending Violence Against Aboriginal Women

“A prayer for our sisters,” the words of Senator Bette Gordon’s opening prayer set the tone for a day of heavy, emotional, yet necessary discussions on how the MNO is addressing violence against Aboriginal women. (The full prayer can be found on pg 9.) Returning to Thunder Bay, the location where the first strategic framework on Ending Violence Against Aboriginal Women was created, the MNO held a workshop on August 21 prior to the MNO’s Annual General Assembly (AGA). Participants included the Provincial Council of the MNO (PCMNO), Women’s Secretariat of the MNO (WSMNO), Community Council Presidents, Senators, Métis youth and MNO staff.

In a long overdue report, the RCMP recently released a statistic which states that over 1,181 Aboriginal women have gone missing or have been murdered in Canada. “This is an issue that no one government or police can address alone,” stated MNO President Gary Lipinski during his opening remarks. “It is an issue that the MNO cannot fully address; it requires our collective commitment and action. We can and will take our responsibilities in professional and community levels and take a strong stance doing all we can as a collective Métis voice to end violence against Aboriginal women.”

Alexandria Barrett, Deputy Minister for the Ministry of Children and Youth Services attended the workshop and brought greetings on behalf of Minister Tracey McCharles. His words, reflecting on recent tragic events, moved the audience.

“An issue that affects women and children of all ages, the discovery of Tina Fontaine in Winnipeg just the other day is another tragic example of an epidemic that leaves us shocked and horrified,” he said. “Her death reminds us that behind the statistics these are individuals.” (Continued on page 6)
Faceless dolls created by MNO citizens and staff during the MNO Ending Violence Against Aboriginal Women workshop held on August 21.

MNO Vice-Chair Sharon McBride who is the Spokesperson for the WSMNO provided Bezzina with a gift made by Métis artist Jamie Koehel of fish scales to show the MNO’s appreciation for the ministry’s hard work.

Vice-Chair McBride also provided opening remarks where she shared stories of violence against women and men. “Together we are a united front, we can tackle this epidemic and violence in all its forms,” she stated.

An overview on MNO’s involvement in addressing violence against Aboriginal women was provided by MNO Chief Operating Officer (COO) Doug Wilson. This was followed by a description of MNO’s program development priorities by MNO Manager of Mental Health and Victim Services, Jennifer Lord.

The creation of Métis healing blankets, an interactive healing exercise, was the highlight of the morning. The exercise was facilitated by MNO Victim Services Coordinator, Marsha Depottie. Citizens, staff and friends worked together in small groups where they wrote messages of hope, strength, healing and love on the inside of the blankets. The two halves of the blankets were then tied together. The blankets are to symbolize the healing process by wrapping strength, support and comfort around a victim. The completed blankets were presented to each MNO Community Council President to be taken back to their communities.

After each blanket was presented, a ceremony was held to awaken the Métis healing blankets with assistance from PCMNO Youth Representative Mitch Case.

Métis families in Ontario communities. MNO Supervisor of Community Wellness, Jason Jamieson and MNO Community Wellness Coordinators Charmaine Langlais and Terry Lynn Longpre passionately shared their experiences working with victims of violence and how the MNO can help.

MNO Honourary Senator Roland St. Germain also provided a heartfelt presentation. “Culture is a blanket of comfort that gives meaning to life,” he said. “When you embrace your culture it gives you comfort… We have to talk about our hurts; it is a healing process to discuss our hurt. The lack of resources is its own violence against women. When a government does not take care of their women and children, that is violence in itself… To the young girls in the crowd, be proud of that blood that runs through your veins.”

This was followed by another interactive healing exercise called the Faceless Doll Project. Coordinated by Lord and MNO Aboriginal Sexual Violence Community Response Initiative Coordinator, Valeri Stortini, the workshop was thoroughly enjoyed by all as each person created a doll that represented themselves, a loved one or even a stranger. The goal of this community engagement workshop is to bring awareness by visually representing the known and unknown cases of missing and murdered Aboriginal women and girls through felt dolls. Each statistic tells a story and each of the dolls created represents one of those stories.

Several of the women present who had participated in faceless doll workshops before commented how gratifying it was to see so many male faceless dolls representing men who have been impacted by violence to their daughters, wives, mothers and female friends. This showed that the workshop was bringing the issue home to these men.

The workshop concluded with President Lipinski discussing the future of MNO’s involvement in ending violence in all forms.

“We need to provide every opportunity for our citizens to flourish in their lives free of discrimination and violence,” said President Lipinski. “It’s critical that we declare that all forms of violence against Aboriginal women must stop. Together we will take a united stand on these issues which are so important to our families, community and nation. I trust that each and every one of us will leave this workshop with a greater understanding and how detrimental this is to our way of life.”

The closing prayer was provided by MNO Senator Joseph Poitras who reflected on the heavy yet heartfelt day.

“Violence against women is violence against the future and wellbeing of our communities.”

- Alexander Bezzina
There has been significant public discourse and debate over the past number of days on the need for and value of a national inquiry on missing and murdered Aboriginal women. I have added my voice as a husband and father and as the Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) President, to those calling for a national inquiry. The polarized nature of opinions speaks to the need for broader public understanding of the issues. An inquiry would help create acknowledgement of the fact that Aboriginal women and girls face unique threats to their safety that there are underlying systemic factors at play and that a major human tragedy is taking place in our country. Like an alcoholic addressing addiction, change will not occur until there is an acknowledgement of a problem.

While it is true that studies have been undertaken, the size and scope of the issues and the extent of any progress in system responses is uncertain. Violence against Aboriginal women crosses boundaries and extends across jurisdictions. The RCMP reported that over 1,181 Aboriginal women have gone missing or have been murdered since 1980. Two hundred and twenty-five cases are reported as unsolved. What knowledge do other police forces and agencies have on missing and murdered Aboriginal women? What is being done to address the unresolved cases? How many incidents exist that are not police-recorded?

The RCMP report recommended enhanced accountability for criminal investigation. When it comes to other alleged wrongdoing, where a police force is involved in potentially unsatisfactory managing or handling of a case, then another police force or agency is typically called in to investigate. Why not in this instance? No one knows how each report of missing and murdered Aboriginal women was handled. We do not know how far the RCMP has gone in advancing its goals of better community engagement and in working with police agencies to release information on unresolved cases. An all-encompassing investigation of the facts is needed as well as recommendations for action.

We need a national strategy. We need actions taken at all levels, across sectors and in all jurisdictions involving multiple partners. We need to take collective, sustained measures to prevent and end violence in our own communities and constituencies. A national inquiry would bring national focus to the issues.*

— MNO President Gary Lipinski

We are committed to working with our Aboriginal sisters and brothers and anyone else in government or mainstream to end violence in all its shapes and forms against First Nations, Métis and Inuit women. Our community workers provide prevention and peer supports, breaking the stigma and shame of abuse and supporting families to heal.

The MNO plays a role in ending violence against Métis women and girls and we are taking action to the best of our abilities. However, no one agency, institution or government can bring the needed systemic changes. A commitment from all stakeholders is needed and an inquiry will establish unknown facts, build knowledge and hopefully result in a shared public sense of responsibility.

As a parent, I can only imagine the deep pain those who have missing or murdered loved ones must go through every day. I see the humanity in this dark and tragic issue and I ask that all Canadians do the same. What would you do? How far would you go for answers? When would you be satisfied that justice is served and that our society cares enough to put effort into seeing that it does not happen to others? These are only some of the questions that the families of lost ones struggle with every day and their perspectives are essential.

Public collaboration is essential to the end result of safety and well-being of Aboriginal girls and women. Taking action requires dialogue and a shared understanding. I will say frankly that some of the commentary in recent media reports has been hurtful. Such commentary reinforces my sense that we need avenues to have difficult conversations and to move forward in a focused way: A national inquiry is one important avenue for this to happen.

RESOLVED BY CONSENSUS (AGA-RES2014-01)

Métis Nation Declaration to End Violence Against Aboriginal Women

We, the Métis Nation of Ontario, declare our full commitment to work to End Violence Against Aboriginal Women.

We, the Métis Nation of Ontario, are a people who honour and respect the family, our elders who hold the key to our past, and our children, who are our future.

We, the Métis Nation of Ontario, are inspired by the values of our ancestors and reaffirm our commitment to democracy, freedom, generosity, justice, fairness and equality.

We, the Métis Nation of Ontario, regard Violence Against Women to include any act of gender-based violence that results in, or is likely to result in, physical, sexual, psychological or spiritual harm or suffering to women, including threats of such acts, whether occurring in public or in private life.

We, the Métis Nation of Ontario, acknowledge the causes of violence against Aboriginal women and girls are rooted in a history of colonial policies that attempted to destroy cultures and that have traumatized generations of Indigenous people.

We, the Métis Nation of Ontario, are a distinct Aboriginal people committed to working together and with our sisters and brothers to end violence, in all of its shapes and forms, against Aboriginal women.

We, the Métis Nation of Ontario, will not accept or tolerate violence in any form in our families, in our communities or in our nation.

Guided by our spiritual values we, the Métis Nation of Ontario, aspire to attain our highest potential and live our lives with dignity and honour, free of discrimination and violence.
A PRAYER FOR our sisters

Creator, when we were born you gave the gift of life. Today we are gathered here to stand up and remember Métis, First Nations and Inuit sisters, mothers, daughters, grannies, auntsies, nieces and friends who are impacted by all forms of violence and abuse, including those that have gone missing.

Creator, lift the veil of denial, ambivalence, ignorance and attitudes of uncaring and help us find our loved ones. We do not know where they are or if they are alive or dead. Help us to bring each of our sisters, mothers, daughters, grannies, auntsies, nieces and friends home.

Creator, as we remember the women we must also remember their loved ones. Our families and communities are in pain. Give us the strength and comfort during these dark times. When we tell our stories, open the ears of the listeners so it touches their hearts and calls them to action.

Creator, give the wisdom and courage to our leaders, lawmakers, police and anyone who is called to help a woman who is suffering abuse or violence, or who has gone missing. May they see she is a woman who has loved ones, is a member of our community, and not first look to see if fault can be found on the woman.

Creator, we now turn our prayers to the men. In order for the violence against our women to stop our men need to resume the role of taking care of and protecting their mothers, sisters, daughters, grannies, auntsies and spouses. Give the men who have abused the strength, clarity and courage to admit their harm, seek help and change. For the men who have harmed or killed a missing women, we pray the guilt will cause them to come forward so she may be reunited with her family and put to rest in a proper manner to allow her Spirit to be at peace.

Finally Great Spirit, we pray for all women who give us the wisdom, strength and courage to stand up for ourselves and make a commitment to end violence and abuse, in all of its forms. We pray that if there are women with us today, who are in harm’s way, that you place helpers in their lives and place courage in their hearts to find safety and to know safety is their inherent right.

Marsi, Migwich, Merci, Amen

Gifted to the Métis Nation of Ontario by Senator Reta Gordon.

Coming together healing blanket workshop

Submitted by: Marsha Depotier, MNO Victims Services Coordinator

This winter the Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) Victim Services Program recently concluded a series of Women’s Sharing Circles that began in the spring of 2014. Circles were held once a week for ten weeks at the MNO Community Office in Bancroft and were designed to help women address trauma from past harms as well as support and ‘walk alongside’ women on their healing journey.

The Women’s Sharing Circles were facilitated by MNO’s Victim Services Coordinator, Marsha Depotier. A local trauma therapist, Jody Raven from Sacred Path Healing Centre, was also invited to co-facilitate.

The circles began with all women becoming familiar with each other as well familiar with their own life experiences and life path. Women were invited to share as much of their story as they felt comfortable or necessary. Slowly and in a cultural safe and supportive way, participants were able to identify the trauma that sits within them as an individual, within their families and within their community. The goal of this process was and is to draw attention to the fact that trauma not only damages our spirits as Métis women but also lingers and attaches itself to our spirits. Participants learned ways to release trauma and how to nourish themselves back to health.

The circles focused on a holistic model of healing and wellness and participants were asked to embrace a greater understanding of the rich Métis culture through traditional crafts, activities, storytelling and teachings. All of the sharing, creating and skills development that took place over the ten weeks fed into a large process of creating individual Métis Healing Bundles. Each Métis Healing Bundle included:

- Métis unity strand
- Turtle rattle
- Métis healing blanket
- Métis timeline scarf
- Mindful mediation techniques
- Breathing techniques
- Medicine bundle of tobacco, sage, cedar and sweet grass

Each item in the Métis Healing Bundle was created by the women and at the final session a feast and celebration was held. At this time, the women were invited to awaken their bundles in ceremony. These bundles are now not only cherished keepsakes and a reminder of what each woman was able to achieve in a ten week period but are now medicines that will serve these women for years to come.

The MNO Victims Services Program is creating a guide on how to plan, develop and offer similar Women’s Sharing Circles throughout the province.

We thank the women of the Gathering Strength Women’s Circles for their ability to share, learn and grow. Marsii.

A first in Ontario, a first in Canada

On July 3, 2014 in Sudbury – Élargir l’espace francophone, in partnership with Destination réussite – Volet 1 Nord, Collège Boréal, Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO), and in collaboration with the Mining Industry Human Resources Council (MiHR), announced that the “Mining Essentials” program was launched for the very first time in French.

The nine week program is being delivered by Collège Boréal, Sudbury campus, to fourteen Aboriginal participants who attended French language high schools in Northern Ontario. This training will give them greater job opportunities as well as provide practical solutions to recruitment challenges sometimes encountered in the mining sector.

This endeavour was in part due to the generous financial contribution of the MNO and Destination réussite – Volet 1 Nord, enabling these first fourteen participants to receive this training in French.

Angèle Piquette, coordinator for Destination réussite – Volet 1 Nord says, “This is a collaboration from federal, provincial and regional partners that will reach a targeted group and we are responding to the growing need of the mining industry in the entry level sector. This is a promising initiative and we are totally enthused with this partnership.”

ÉLARGIR L’ESPACE FRANCOPHONE
The mission of Élargir l’espace francophone is to ensure sustainable development of the Francophone community by ensuring integrated participation from the community sector as well as government and private sector in collaboration with the French language education system in Ontario.

MNO signs agreement with Ontario Power Generation

The Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) and the MNO Georgian Bay Traditional Territory Consultation Committee signed a five year Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with Ontario Power Generation (OPG) on July 21, 2014.

The MOU outlines the process for continued consultation that will be followed between the MNO and OPG for the Deep Geologic Repository for low and intermediate level waste and OPG’s nuclear waste operations in Kincardine, Ontario. “This agreement is very important to Métis people,” explained MNO Chair France Picotte, “because it guarantees that Métis rights will be protected and the Métis Way of Life in the Georgian Bay will be respected. We are pleased to continue working with Ontario Power Generation. Agreements like this one are another benefit that we see coming from the MNO-Ontario Framework Agreement, which was first signed in 2008 and which was renewed this year.”

Brian McGee, OPG Vice-President Nuclear Waste Management Division added: “Ontario Power Generation is committed to building long-term, mutually beneficial working relationships with the Métis Nation of Ontario. This agreement today will help us work together to strengthen this relationship even further and work towards common goals.”

The MOU sets out the way in which the local Métis community, represented by the MNO’s Georgian Bay Traditional Territory Consultation Committee and the Community Councils that are part of the committee, will be consulted regarding the development of the project and details on how the parties will work together to address any potential impacts the project may have on Métis rights, interests and way of life. The MOU specifies the involvement of the CEFA, which was first signed in 2008 and which was renewed this year. “Our community is very proud of the relationship that we have built with Ontario Power Generation – Deep Geologic Repository for Low to Intermediate Level Waste. We see this relationship as an opportunity to foster new collaborations while working together to protect our traditional values and way of life. We look forward to continuing to strengthen our relationship with Ontario Power Generation as their project proceeds.”

Métis Nation of Ontario and TransCanada Sign Engagement Agreement for the Energy East Pipeline Project

On September 23, 2014, the Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) announced it has signed a Communications and Engagement Funding Agreement (CEFA) with TransCanada Oil Pipelines (TSX:TRP). The CEFA will guide the working relationship between MNO and TransCanada in the development and environmental assessment of the Energy East Pipeline Project (the “Project”) over the next two years.

The Energy East Pipeline Project includes a 4,600 kilometer pipeline that will carry 1.1 million barrels of crude oil per day from Alberta and Saskatchewan to refineries in Eastern Canada through Ontario to delivery points in Quebec and New Brunswick. In Ontario, the Project will traverse five of the MNO’s regions, which are represented through Regional Consultation Committees as a part of the MNO’s consultation framework.

The MOU is pleased with the positive and constructive relationship-building efforts TransCanada has demonstrated by signing this CEFA. Through this agreement, our communities and citizens will be able to learn about the Project as well as assess its impacts on Métis rights, interests and claims in order to ultimately make informed decisions on Energy East.”

“Through this agreement, our communities and citizens will be able to learn about the Project as well as assess its impacts on Métis rights, interests and claims in order to ultimately make informed decisions on Energy East.”

The founders of the Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) set out ambitious goals and objectives when they drafted the Statement of Prime Purpose. As MNO citizens departed from Thunder Bay following this year’s Annual General Assembly (AGA), they could feel great satisfaction in the progress made and being made towards the aspiration of attaining our highest potential as so eloquently expressed in the Statement of Prime Purpose.

From the procession led by MNO Veterans that began the Opening Ceremonies, to the beautiful rendition of Amazing Grace that closed the AGA three days later, the Assembly was a whirlwind of activity filled with discussion, decisions, celebration, commemoration, laughter and tears all of which are part of the business of the Métis Nation.

- From the MNO Statement of Prime Purpose

The 21st MNO Annual General Assembly Highlights August 23-25, Thunder Bay

In his annual State of the Nation Address, President Lipinski covered a wide range of issues as he outlined the MNO’s successes in the last year and spoke about upcoming challenges. He indicated that the Aboriginal Skills and Employment Training Strategy (ASETSS) Agreement has proven to be one of the most successful programs the federal government ever launched and that it has allowed the MNO to provide many opportunities to Métis youth to advance their education and careers. He also expressed concern, however, that the current ASETSS agreement expires in March 2015 and that although the MNO has been making a solid case for renewal he still called upon MNO citizens to write their Members of Parliament and put pressure on the government to maintain this important program. “We cannot wait for the budget announcement,” stated President Lipinski, “our communities need to know what is happening so we can start planning now.”

In a similar vein, President Lipinski called on the federal government to match provincial government contributions to the Métis Voyageur Development Fund (MVDF). While in 2011, the provincial government committed $30 million over 10 years to the MVDF, the federal government has yet to provide any support. “There is a party missing,” stated President Lipinski. “Ontario is alone in its commitment [to the MVDF]. We need to put pressure on the federal government to provide matching funds.”

Among the success stories that President Lipinski highlighted in his remarks was the recognition that all MNO volunteers, past and present, received when the MNO was nominated for, and received, the June Callwood Outstanding Achievement for Voluntarism Award. “The MNO was built by volunteers,” stated President Lipinski, “and this was certainly well-deserved recognition.”

Another significant achievement with many positive implications for the future of the MNO was the renewal of the MNO-Ontario Framework Agreement. In her video message to the Assembly, Premier Kathleen Wynne expressed pride in renewing the agreement for another five years. “Continuing to strengthen our relationship is so important,” she explained, “together we can improve the quality of life for Métis families and individuals.”

In his remarks to the Assembly, Honourable David Zimmer, Minister of Aboriginal Affairs indicated that the achievements of the original Framework Agreement, signed in 2008, led to the new agreement being concluded. “Last year we did an independent review of the original agreement,” stated Minister Zimmer, “and it was quite clear that the agreement was really effective in reaching and meeting the shared goals and objectives outlined in that agreement.”

Minister Zimmer signalled out in particular the work done with the New Relationship Fund (NRF), the increased educational opportunities for Métis students, the Métis Voigtur Developement Fund and the Nipissing research agreement. In his remarks, MNO President Gary Lipinski spoke about how the original Framework Agreement took Métis from the era of denial into an era of reconciliation. “It is wonderful,” he said, “that we are able to speak about all our successes we have achieved by working together.”

MNO Finances

In 2008, the MNO sat with an accumulated debt of $4.2 million. Since 2008, the MNO has buckled down, tightened its financial controls and worked on debt repayment plans. As a result, the 2013-14 MNO audited financial statements showed the MNO had reduced its overall debt to less than $1 million ($967,000) and for the first time in many years the audit did not include an “Emphasis of Matter.” The “Emphasis of Matter” is a qualification that auditors place on financial statement to indicate that conditions exist within an audited organization that potentially could threaten its ability to remain “going concern,” meaning to continue to operate. While the MNO has been steadily improving its financial picture since 2008, the 2013-14 first fiscal year is the first where enough improvements have been made that the auditor was willing to provide an “unqualified” financial statement which is a statement without any “Emphasis of Matter.”

In addition, the Assembly was informed that the MNO’s administrative costs account for only 10 per cent of all budget expenditures which (Continued on page 15)
Region Two hosts

This year’s AGA was jointly hosted by the three Chartered MNO Community Councils in Region 2 who worked with Region 2 PCMNO Councillor Cam Burgess to make the 2014 AGA one of the most memorable yet! President David Bell of the MNO Thunder Bay Métis Council, Trent Desulneirs of the MNO Superior North Shore Métis Council and William Gordon of the MNO Greenstone Métis Council brought greetings to the Assembly and were joined by several other Thunder Bay and area local politicians including, the Honourable Michael Gravelle, Minister of Northern Development and Mines, the Honourable Bill Mauro, Minister of Natural Resources, his Worship Keith Hobbs, Mayor of Thunder Bay and Member of Parliament John Rafferty.

The obvious connection between local pride and Métis pride was evident as most of these officials commented on Thunder Bay’s strong Métis roots going back to the fur trade and continuing to this day.

Nation to Nation

As one of the three Aboriginal peoples of Canada, the Métis are always very pleased when other Aboriginal peoples accept our invitation to attend the AGA. Grand Chief Harvey Yesno of the Nishnewbe-Aski Nation and Chief Leon Jourdain of the Lac La Croix First Nation representing Grand Chief Warren White, Grand Council Treaty #3, both brought greetings during the AGA Opening Ceremonies. In his remarks Grand Chief Yesno described his own family connections to the Métis and stressed the importance of unity among Aboriginal peoples. In his comments, Chief Jourdain addressed the issue the violence against Aboriginal people and ways to prevent it.

It is Aboriginal youth that will bring this country together through unity and strength to all of us.”

Métis Rights Updates

Our rights stand and fall on the facts of history.”
— Métis Lawyer Jason Madden

Delegates at the MNO AGA were presented updates on current litigation that has had or potentially could have impacts on Métis rights by Jean Teillet and Jason Madden, the two top Métis rights lawyers in Canada.

Ms. Teillet focused on national cases and reviewed a total of 14 cases indicating that the number of Métis rights cases is constantly increasing. Mr. Madden analyzed the Ontario scene and stressed the importance of the right-assertion work being done by ordinary MNO citizens. “I am very proud of our regional leadership,” explained Mr. Madden, “(because) unless you get to the negotiation table - winning court cases is meaningless … it is what you guys do on the local level that really counts.”

Guided by our spiritual values …
— MNO Statement of Prime Purpose

The presence of MNO Senators throughout the AGA helps provide a deep spiritual connection that helps guide decisions during the AGA. They remind delegates of their responsibilities and provide a living link to Métis culture and heritage. The opening prayer for the AGA was provided by Senator Patsy Dryden of the MNO Greenstone Métis Council. Executive Senator Reta Gordon provided the prayer for the Dinner and Dance on the Saturday night while Senator Bob McKay of the MNO Thunder Bay Métis Council provided the AGA’s closing prayer.

AGAs are like family reunions as MNO citizens from all over the province, who only get to see each other once a year at the AGA, have the opportunity to come together and celebrate their culture and heritage. On the Saturday evening, AGA delegates enjoyed a scrumptious meal followed by entertainment that included a jigging and fiddling demonstration by the MNO Canoe Expedition, fiddling from Alisa Bloor, and singing from Brittany Hayes and Pat Calder Cupp. Everyone then took to the dance floor to rock and roll with the Sensational Hot Rods.

On Sunday afternoon, delegates visited lovely Chippewa Park where they participated in a whole host of fun and exciting Métis cultural activities. Activities included dot art, scavenger hunts, finger weaving, jam making, hatchet throwing, and tug of war. Métis Voyageur game competitions also took place including the hatchet throw and air rifle shooting. There was even a concert from the King of Rock and Roll himself, Elvis (or interpreted by local Elvis and national award winning Elvis impersonator Daylin James).

The ALS Ice Bucket Challenge also made a big splash at the AGA. It started with PCMNO Councillors Peter Rivers and Tom Thompson and before long many challenges were issued. Among those who took the Ice-bucket Challenge were MNO President Gary Lipinski, MNO Chair France Picotte, MNO Vice-chair Sharon McBride, MNO Secretary Treasurer Tim Pile, PCMNO Youth Representative Mitch Case and MNO staff members Doug Wilson, Joanne Meyer, Mike Fedyk, Hank Rowlinson, Theresa Hendricks, Mark Brunzell, James Wager and Mark Vuotari. PCMNO Regional Councillor Pauline Richardson chose to donate to ALS rather than take the challenge. For more information about ALS, the Ice-bucket and how to donate go to www.als.ca.

Suzanne Rochon-Burnett
Volunteer of the Year Award

The Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) citizen volunteers are the heart and soul of the MNO. These hard-working individuals spend thousands of hours annually building and strengthening Métis communities and it is through their continuous efforts that the MNO is able to perform its important work. To recognize the individuals who contribute as a volunteer to the MNO year round and have done so for a number of years, the MNO presents the Suzanne Rochon-Burnett Volunteer of the Year Award annually to a deserving MNO citizen. This year, the Suzanne Rochon-Burnett Volunteer of the Year Award was presented to Senator Robert “Bob” McKay, known fondly by many as the Métis “Brad Pitt”.

A truly worthy candidate, Senator McKay has been an active MNO Senator for the past 15 years and member of the MNO Thunder Bay Métis Council for 17 years. Senator McKay sits on many committees and provides a Métis Traditional Knowledge Holder presence at many events for organizations such as the Northern School of Medicine, Lakehead University, the City of Thunder Bay, Lakehead School Board, Saving Lighthouses on Lake Superior and the Labour Council for Aboriginal Youth to name a few. He is also the recipient of the Queen Elizabeth II Diamond Jubilee Medal acknowledging his long-term dedication to the betterment of the Métis Nation.

Nominations for the Volunteer of the Year Award required a written letter, limited to 1,000 words, describing why the nominee should be selected. Each year a volunteer meeting the criteria is named as the recipient of the Suzanne-Rochon Volunteer of the Year by a selection committee of the MNO. Past winners of the award have included: Suzanne Rochon-Burnett, Richard Sarrazin, Senator Reta Gordon, Louise Goulding, Pauline Richardson, Senator Gordon Calder, Senator Maureen Greenwood, Senator Olivine Tiedema and Senator Brenda Powley.

Criteria

The individuals nominated must exemplify the kind of volunteer contribution demonstrated by Suzanne Rochon-Burnett. They will have given generously of their time and effort, are strong advocates of the Métis Nation and their record of selfless commitment has been firmly established. They are seen as caring, giving individuals who others look up to and admire. The candidates will have provided an extended period of service as a volunteer.

About Dr. Suzanne Rochon-Burnett

Dr. Suzanne Rochon-Burnett was a founding member of the Métis Nation of Ontario. Named to the Order of Canada and the Order of Ontario, Suzanne was a member of the Canada Council and was awarded an Honorary Doctorate by Brock University where she served on the Board of Trustees. She was a recipient of a Lifetime Achievement Award from the National Aboriginal Achievement Foundation and the first woman inducted into the Aboriginal Business Hall of Fame. Suzanne passed away in 2006. To honour her memory and recognize her outstanding service as a volunteer, in 2006, the Métis Nation of Ontario named Suzanne as the first recipient of the inaugural Volunteer of the Year Award which now bears her name.

A FEDERAL MÉTIS CLAIMS POLICY AND DANIELS CASE
Mover: Mitch Case
Seconder: Tom Thompson

WHEREAS advancing Métis rights and self-government is a priority for the MNO;
AND WHEREAS Ontario Métis communities have outstanding claims related to Métis rights, title and lands that continue to go unaddressed;
AND WHEREAS the Federal Government has established specific and comprehensive claims policies for the negotiation and resolution of First Nation and Inuit claims that currently exclude Métis;
AND WHEREAS in Daniels v. Canada the Federal Court of Appeal confirmed that the Federal Government has constitutional jurisdiction and responsibility for Métis;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED THAT:
1. The 2014 MNO AGA provides the following direction to the MNO’s leadership:
   1. The MNO aggressively pursue that the Federal Government establish a Métis Claims Policy in order to begin to address and resolve outstanding Métis claims;
   2. The MNO work collaboratively with other willing provincial Métis governments to draw attention to the need for a Federal Métis Claims Policy, and
2. The MNO work collaboratively with other willing provincial Métis governments to draw attention to the need for a Federal Métis Claims Policy, and
3. If the Supreme Court agrees to hear the Federal Government’s appeal in the Daniels case that the MNO retain the law firm of Papier Salter Teillet LLP to seek intervener status on behalf of the MNO in the appeal, subject to available funding being identified by the MNO’s administration and MNC’s Chief Operating Officer negotiating a mutually agreeable budget for said intervention.

RESOLVED BY CONSENSUS (AGA-RES2014-05)
MÉTIS NATIONAL COUNCIL
Mover: Mitch Case
Seconder: Tom Thompson

WHEREAS Ontario Métis communities are a fundamental and indivisible part of the Métis Nation;
AND WHEREAS the MNO strongly supports the principle of provincial Métis governments working together - through the Métis National Council (“MNC”) - to advance the interests of the Métis Nation at the national and international levels;
AND WHEREAS the MNO’s Statement of Prime Purpose clearly states that one of its guiding principles is to maintain its affiliation with the Métis National Council as one of its five Governing Members;
AND WHEREAS the MNO has even increasing concerns about the financial management and operations of the MNC as well as the current national leadership’s ability to respectfully and fairly represent the rights and interests of all parts of the Métis Nation, including the Métis Nation within Ontario;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED THAT: the 2014 MNO AGA provides the following direction and mandate to the MNC’s leadership:
1. That the MNO President attempt to work with other Presidents of the MNC’s Governing Members in an attempt to improve and reform the MNC’s operations and structures for the benefit of the Métis Nation as a whole, with an annual progress report provided to the Assembly at the AGA;
2. If progress cannot be made in improving the current situation or in reforming the MNC that the MNO have the mandate to suspend the MNC’s participation in the MNC until these issues are adequately addressed in order to ensure the MNO and the MNO President are not exposed to potential liabilities or positions are not taken that compromise Métis rights, interests and claims in Ontario.

RESOLVED BY CONSENSUS (AGA-RES2014-046)
In the Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) Statement of Prime Purpose, we declare that “we aspire to attain our highest potential.” Building towards that ideal, in 2013-14 we continued to work together for Métis rights, improve social conditions for our people and promote Métis culture and heritage. I am pleased to report that in the last year, the MNO has continued to move forward on the objectives of the Statement of Prime Purpose and that we will see even more success in the years to come.

Our ongoing success has been the product of our dedicated citizens and the representative government that our founders put in place. The Provisional Council of the Métis Nation of Ontario (PCMNO) takes direction from citizens at our Annual General Assemblies (AGA) and works closely with its 29 chartered community councils and their democratically elected leadership. At the AGA, you the citizens review the work of our leadership over the last year and consider the MNO’s direction for the future. That is because for all the lists of achievements in this Annual Report Highlights and all the work done for the last 20 years; everything done in the past is ultimately to build for a stronger future.

Economic self-sufficiency law

I was very proud that at the 2013 MNO AGA, the assembly unanimously passed the economic self-sufficiency law. This law will advance Métis self-governance and government and as I said at the time, I predict that it will prove to be a significant landmark in Métis history along with other watersheds such as the 2003 R v Powley Supreme Court decision and the 2008 MNO-Ontario Framework Agreement. By working together we have realized the vision and the dreams of the MNO founders who outlined economic self-sufficiency as one of our key objectives. The law moves the MNO towards its long-term goal of self-government by establishing the structure that will permit the MNO to capitalize on emerging opportunities in a number of fields.

It is fitting that only a day before the AGA passed the economic self-sufficiency law that I was able to join with the Honourable Bob Chiarelli, Minister of Energy, to announce that the MNO was set to become a long-term owner of commercial-scale solar projects, earning income over a 20-year period while helping generate clean electricity across the province.

This is being accomplished through the Métis Nation of Ontario - Bright-Rooftop Solar Limited Partnership formed between the MNO Solar Inc. and BrightRooftop Solar. Contracts obtained through the limited partnership will generate approximately 16 MW AC of electricity. One of the Métis Nation’s long-term goals is to be able to generate enough green energy for Ontario’s electric system to meet the needs of every Métis household in the province. This limited partnership puts us on the path to achieving this goal, while also creating training opportunities, jobs and wealth for Métis communities in the province.

Twentieth Anniversary of the MNO and the Tenth Anniversary of the Powley Decision

Twenty-chis ten marked the 20th anniversary of the founding of the MNO in 1993 and the 10th anniversary of the landmark 2003 R v Powley Supreme Court of Canada case.

To mark these historic twin anniversaries, a documentary film about the history of the MNO was produced. The Métis Nation of Ontario 1993-2013 features interviews with some of the MNO’s founders and early leaders including myself, Tony Beckourt, Jean Teillet, Jason Madden, Louis Goulding, Senator Retta Gordon, France Picotte and many others as well as rare archival interviews with Steve Powley and Marion Larkman. The film features hundreds of photographs and rare video clips that show the amazing achievements of MNO citizens who worked so hard to build the Métis Nation in Ontario.

A special sneak preview of the documentary was shown at the 2013 MNO AGA where it was warmly received and the final version was premiered to rave reviews at 2013 provincial Louis Riel Day events. The Honourable David Zimmer, Minister of Aboriginal Affairs was so impressed by the movie...

2 that he commented he wanted to have it shown to Members of the Provincial Parliament. The documentary is now posted on the MNO website.

The MNO also commissioned the creation of a special commemorative coin that on one side recognized the 20th anniversary of the MNO and on the other side acknowledged the Powley anniversary. The coin was very well-received and was initiated by MNO Chief Operating Officer Doug Wilson and designed by Métis graphic artist Marc St. Germain. It was distributed to all attendees at the 2013 AGA and additional copies were provided to Charter Community Councils so they could be presented to local citizens they wished to recognize and thank.

The Powley anniversary was also commemorated through events during the 2013 provincial Louis Riel Day in Toronto. This included a public legal education equity event co-sponsored by the MNO and the Law Society of Upper Canada that focused on the significance of the Powley Case to Métis rights and a ribbon dinner to Steve Powley with the Powley family present. The 2013 twin anniversaries reminded us of the many contributions of the MNO founders and of their volunteerism which was and is so crucial for the MNO’s achievements. It is very fitting therefore that in 2013 John Graham, a long-time friend of the MNO, nominated the MNO for the Jane Callwood Award for Outstanding Achievement in Voluntarism. In his nomination Mr. Graham said that he felt that as this was the 20th anniversary of the MNO, it was an apt time to recognize those who worked so hard to build the Métis Nation in Ontario. I was very honoured to accept this award on behalf of all MNO’s volunteers past, present and future.

MNO-Ontario Framework Agreement

When reviewing this past year, it is worth remembering that together in 2008, we set an agenda that built on our past achievements and has been the basis for the MNO’s work since then. A key foundational element of that agenda was the MNO-Ontario Framework Agreement, which was a five year agreement signed November 17, 2008.

The original Framework Agreement outlined mutually agreeable objectives for: strengthening the MNO, recognizing and promoting Métis history and culture, enhancing the wellbeing of Métis individuals, families and communities; and facilitating the recognition of Métis rights in Ontario. It proved to be the lynchpin for our relationship with the Ontario government and has led to a number of Memorandums of Understanding (MOU) with other Ontario government ministries, agencies and post-secondary institutions. It has also facilitated economic development initiatives that were part of the MNO’s first strategic plan and economic development strategy.

As 2013 was the last year of the first agreement, the MNO and Ontario entered negotiations for a new agreement and in November 2013 were able to sign an extension to the agreement. Our two governments have since been able to renew the Framework Agreement for another five years. I am very pleased to report the new Framework Agreement was signed on April 17, 2014.

The renewed Framework Agreement builds on its 2008 predecessor with an increased focus on Métis rights through “advancing reconciliation between the Crown and the Métis people” and providing “a framework for meeting Ontario’s constitutional obligations towards the Métis people consistent with the honour the Crown and decisions of the courts.”

Notably, the renewed Framework Agreement commits the MNO and Ontario to jointly “pursuing” discussions with the Government of Canada on Métis rights issues and the Crown’s consultation duties. Ultimately, the MNO hopes a federal Métis claims policy is developed, which would provide a process to address these outstanding rights and claims issues similar to what the federal government has developed for First Nations and Inuit peoples.

The renewed Framework Agreement also makes a new commitment on the part of the MNO and Ontario to “advance initiatives that support Métis children and youth to be the best that they can be.” This enhanced youth-oriented commitment is a major priority that I have outlined for the MNO and which is part of our commitment to building a stronger Métis Nation and Ontario.

New Relationship Fund

Along with the renewed Framework Agreement, the New Relationship Fund (NRF) remains a pillar in the assertion of Métis rights in the province. The NRF has provided funding for MNO staff that work with regions and communities to ensure that Ontario Métis are at the table and able to participate in a meaningful way whenever the Duty to Consult is triggered. The work of this staff has included facilitating community council charters and regional consultation protocols, which have now been signed in all nine regions. NRF funding also supports a variety of Traditional Knowledge and Métis Way of Life activities, such as Traditional Knowledge gatherings and celebrations that were held this year.
In my President’s report at the 2012 AGA, I challenged all MNO citizens to begin thinking about how we all can encourage our Metis children and youth to take advantage of every opportunity and become all they can be. The MNO currently offers programs that help parents expecting children, pre-school and school-age children as well as young adults in postsecondary education. This is how we should look at children and youth, as being from the womb to young adulthood.

Providing every opportunity to our young people is not simply something the MNO can do by offering programs and other supports. Every MNO citizen needs to step forward and encourage young people to be their best. This may mean helping them save for a Registered Education Savings Plan (RESP) or simply communicating to our sons, daughters, nieces, nephews and grandchildren that completing high school and going onto post-secondary is not only possible but something they should expect.

During 2013-14, MNO citizens and staff responded very positively to my challenge and there were many indications that we were achieving success. One of the clearest indications was the record number of youth who attended the 2013 MNO AGA. It has been especially gratifying for me to see our young MNO citizens step forward to increasingly play leadership roles in our government. Whether it is the expanding activism of the MNO Youth Council, the larger roles for Youth Representatives on MNO Chartered Community Councils or the greater interaction we are seeing between MNO youth and MNO veterans and Senators, there can be no question that our younger generations are readying themselves to build a wonderful future for the Metis Nation.

 Métis Voyageur Development Fund (MVDF) clients reported that they created 12.2 full-time equivalent direct jobs and another 16 positions were created by their subcontractors and partners. With an additional six jobs maintained by our financing, MVDF has created 28 jobs in Ontario and saved six existing jobs.

Aboriginal Healing and Wellness Strategy

Another cornerstone in building a strong future is the agreement the MNO has had for the last several years with the Aboriginal Healing and Wellness Strategy (AHWS). AHWS funds support the MNO’s Community Wellness Worker, Métis Healthy Babies Healthy Children and Mental Health programs. With AHWS the MNO provides “flow through” services for satellite projects operated by other Aboriginal agencies involved in healing and wellness. Through this process the MNO has developed successful working relationships the Ontario Native Women’s Association (ONWA), Núkunikbíin Anishinabek-Nesweg Services Circle, the Native Women’s Resource Centre (NWRRC), Aboriginal Peoples Alliance of Northern Ontario (APANO), Red Lake Indian Friendship Centre, and the Nogojiwanong Friendship Centre in Peterborough.

MNO leads the way

The MNO’s work with the AHWS contributes to the MNO’s strong reputation as a leader and a strong partner that follows best practices in the field of Aboriginal healing and wellness. The MNO was recognized in November 2013 for its excellence in service delivery through a number of fronts including in the Health Council of Canada report entitled Canada’s most vulnerable: Improving health care for First Nations, Inuit and Métis seniors.

In 2013-14, the MNO continued our ground-breaking research on chronic diseases within the Ontario Métis population in cooperation with the Public Health Agency of Canada and the Institute for Clinical and Evaluative Science. Adding to the impressive work already done on diabetes, cancer, cardiovascular and respiratory diseases, the MNO released a study about the preponderance of asthma and chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD) in the Ontario Métis population. Also in December 2013, the MNO with the financial support of the Canadian Partnership Against Cancer held a focus group to learn about the experiences of Métis cancer patients. The focus group was part of a broader Canada-wide initiative that aims to better understand issues facing Métis cancer patients, in order to make improvements to cancer control programs.

The MNO continues to have a leadership role in the Ontario Aboriginal Responsible Gambling Program (OARGP). Last year, the Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care selected the MNO to take on the role of lead coordinator for the OARGP. The MNO was selected because of our administrative capacity, experience working with Aboriginal partners and our responsiveness to the needs of the Ministry. The MNO will be the lead in this program until March 31, 2017.

The MNO also continues to show leadership in the area of ending vio-

that operates under fee-for-service contracted agreements to provide property services. It took its experience in this area to a new level by transforming the branch into a self-sustaining operation. In 2012-13, the MNO signed a five-year $30.6 million dollar agreement for employment and training programs through the federal government’s ASETS program. The MNO’s solid employment and training delivery foundation combined with an ongoing commitment to partnership with all levels of government. Furthermore, Infinity Property Services pursues housing related funding to build or acquire social housing units, and operating funds, for rent subsidies, for building Métis-specific housing. As Infinity Property Services grows it will generate revenue that will allow the MNO to provide our citizens with greater services and programming that will contribute to a brighter future for all Métis in Ontario.

One of the most important relationships contributing to building a better future for Métis citizens has been the relationship we have built with the federal government through ASETS. In 2010, the MNO signed a five-year $30.6 million dollar agreement for employment and training programs through the federal government’s ASETS program. The MNO’s solid employment and training delivery foundation combined with an ongoing commitment to partnership and skills development resulted in the MNO being the first ASETS agreement approved in Ontario. ASETS funding supports a wide range of employment services for Métis citizens. Over the years the MNO has operated under fee-for-service contracted agreements to provide property management and program management on behalf of federal, provincial, and municipal governments. Infinity Property Services is self-sustaining, which means its operations are not maintained through grants or funding agreements but rather through result-based contracts payable to the MNO for work performed. All profits from revenues generated are reinvested into the MNO Secretariat to assist in repayment of the debt load and contribute to any operational costs.

Infinity Property Services continued to pursue new contract opportunities in 2013-14 in the property management and program administration sectors by developing business proposals and maintaining good relationships with all levels of government. Furthermore, Infinity Property Services pursues housing related funding to build or acquire social housing units, and operating funds, for rent subsidies, for building Métis-specific housing. As Infinity Property Services grows it will generate revenue that will allow the MNO to provide our citizens with greater services and programming that will contribute to a brighter future for all Métis in Ontario.

Citizenship applications

The ongoing support of the Federal Ministry of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development is also a key to creating positive impacts for Métis families and communities. In 2013-14, the Registry Branch made further inroads in the root families work and the research and compilation of these family genealogies is ongoing.

Improved processes and procedures have allowed the Registry to reach a level never before achieved. In 2013-14 an impressive 1,306 citizenship cards were administered in the wait time for assessment was reduced to approximately five months. This increase clearly shows that more and more people want to be part of the future of the MNO.

Métis Rights

Métis citizenship represents a legacy that came down to us from our ancestors. Our Aboriginal and Treaty rights as recognized in the Constitution Act, 1982 and as affirmed by the Supreme Court in R v Powley remain our most sacred. Protecting these rights was the reason that the 2012 AGA instructed the MNO leadership to perform an internal audit of harvest files and is also the reason this decision was re-affirmed at the 2013 AGA. The AGA resolution required that all Harvesters lacking evidence that they meet the criteria of the Powley test submit the necessary documentation. The MNO Registry worked with impacted Harvesters to help them obtain the necessary documentation as this is essential not only to meet the requirements of the Supreme Court of Canada but to maintain our harvesting rights as Métis.

In early 2012, the Federal Court of Canada came down with a landmark ruling in Daniels v Canada that according to the Canadian constitution Métis fall under the jurisdiction of the federal government. This has potential wide-ranging benefits to Métis but unfortunately the federal government appealed this case and it went to the Federal Court of Appeal in October 2013. Due to the significance of this case to Métis rights, the MNO successfully sought out intervenor status in the case, Métis lawyer Jean Teillet represented the MNO at the Federal Court of Appeal. The Court released its decision on April 17, 2014 and upheld key aspects of the rulings of lower courts that asserted that Métis are the responsibility of the federal government and should be recognized as “Indians” under section 91(24) of the Canadian Constitution in the same way as First Nations and Inuit are recognized, and therefore the federal government should move to negotiate similar rights and benefits.

We are now waiting to see if the federal government will appeal the decision to the Supreme Court or finally accept the message from the courts which...
Challenges Ahead

The list of highlights I have provided can leave no doubt that the MNO had a busy and successful year. These successes are in no small way owed to the contributions of our citizens. We take every opportunity to remind all levels of government and other funders of the contributions of our volunteers. Our women, men young people and seniors, are called on more often than those of any other Aboriginal group to support the work of advancing Métis rights and something has to be done to compensate them for their many contributions.

On a personal note, I would like to thank and acknowledge the PCMNO, MNO Community Councils, Women’s Secretariat, Veterans’ Council, Senators, Youth Council and Captains of the Hunt and all others who hold leadership positions. Nothing that took place in the last year could have been achieved without their selfless dedication and vision. I would also be remiss if I did not give a standing ovation to our dedicated, hardworking staff who so ably support the leadership in all areas of activity. Future generations owe a tremendous debt to all these amazing women and men.

Following in the footsteps of our founders and early leaders, we will continue to move forward with our work as guided by the Statement of Prime Purpose and directed by MNO citizens at every AGA. With ever increasing attention from governments at all levels, industry proponents and the public, there may never be a better opportunity to capitalize on the gains made to date. “We aspire to attain our highest potential,” is a worthy goal that I challenge all MNO citizens to embrace.

Thank you, Marsi, Megwetch!

Gary Lipinski
President, Métis Nation of Ontario

Financial accountability and management

Also critical to the future will be the MNO’s ability to continue managing its financial affairs as a competent and responsible government. When I accepted the position of President, one particularly important commitment in our agenda was to strengthen the MNO’s financial management, administration and accountability. Although this has proven to be the most challenging of all the commitments, I am pleased to report that in the past year we have continued to make significant headway in getting MNO’s “financial house” in order.

As of March 31, 2014, the MNO’s repayable debt had decreased to $967,000 from about $4.2 million in 2008. The MNO has been able to completely pay off all its Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) debt and Employer Health Tax Debt (EHT). The repayment of this debt took only three years and four years respectively rather than the original 25 years MNO had negotiated. The MNO has additionally significantly reduced its debts owing to Service Canada and Health Canada. The amount originally owing to Service Canada in 2008 was $1.6 million and an estimated 24 years for repayment, but as of March 31, 2014 this has been reduced to $805,011 with only four years left to repay. The amount owing to Health was originally $261,000 in 2008, but as of March 2014, it has been reduced to $805,011.

While we have received accolades and acknowledgement from most of our funders for these dramatic improvements, we must continue to demonstrate real effort and diligence on this front as both are critical to ensuring the MNO remains strong for the future.

On May 26, from the shores of the Rideau River in Ottawa, 10 Métis youth embarked on a journey of a lifetime, the Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) Canoe Expedition.

Throughout this 90 day trek, these young Métis followed the historic fur trade routes of their Voyageur ancestors, covering over 2,000 kilometres by canoe and portage all the way to Thunder Bay. Eight paddled in a large Voyageur canoe, while two provided ground support. They started the journey as strangers, but they arrived to Thunder Bay on August 22 as close as family.

Facing many challenges and rewards, these young Voyageurs were forever changed by their journey. Experiencing many situations for the first time, they spent the summer discovering Ontario’s wilderness and their Métis culture to a level they never thought possible. They united the nation as MNO ambassadors spreading Métis culture and history every stop on the way.

Being on this journey sparked a flame not only in myself, but in my dad who never really opened up about being Métis,” explained Geneviève Routhier. “Through my experience on the expedition he felt more connected to the culture and so did I. When paddling the paths our ancestors had, all I could think was, they paddled here, did they see what I am seeing now?”

An experiential learning experience, the paddlers gained important skills including everything from logistics to team building to problem solving and all arrived to the shore of Chippewa Park as leaders of the Métis Nation.

“Before departing on the journey I thought the physical challenges would have been the most difficult to overcome,” said Gerald Lavallee. “But it was mostly mental. We learned how to work strongly as a team and that each one of our differences was a strength in its own way.”

For the first leg of the journey their route took them through the Rideau Canal to Kingston. They then followed the Lake Ontario shoreline to Toronto. From there, they took the Humber River north, and after a series of portages and rivers they entered Georgian Bay at Wasaga beach, and followed the north shore of Lake Huron and Lake Superior all the way to Thunder Bay where they made a grand arrival at the 2014 MNO Annual General Assembly (AGA).

“These young Voyageurs visited many communities where they

“As a Thunder Bay student I see it every day,” he said. “And having seen it from up close was the coolest experience I had on this journey. It was the mark where we all realized, we made it; we’re here.”

Amilia said what she will take most from this journey is all the beauty and culture she witnessed along the way. “Paddling in the evening, you see the sunset on one side of you and the moon on the other. In moments like that, there was silence as all of us were taking in the beauty.”

This was also one of Genevieve’s favourite moments. “The night paddle was dreamlike,” she said. “We paddled in the moonlight. All you could see were the stars and the reflection of the moon in the water; it was magical.”

Kyle Green’s most memorable moment was a difficult physical challenge. “Paddling through the swampy water of Willow Creek was one of my favourite moments,” he explained. “We paddled for a straight 20 kilometres, the river was only 6-8 feet wide and there were lots of sharp turns. It was hard for navigation but proved as a great stepping stone before we reached Superior.”

Shortly after that difficult paddle, the crew officially named their canoe before we reached Superior.”

Our guide Jeremy had become quite good at making all our arrivals very punctual when it comes to timing. During the last hour of our paddle, the sun had decided to make its presence known. As we were getting closer and closer to the corner that would bring us into Chippewa Park, the crew took a few minutes to stop and share our last beautiful words together out on the water. At exactly 6:40 pm Jeremy gave us our final “En avant!” and our paddles hit the water.

With our Métis flag blowing gloriously in the wind behind us as we were paddling forward in perfect cadence, we round the bend and enter into the bay to a sight that we won’t forget. Right before our eyes, a large crowd of people, Métis people, all standing on shore displaying their pride, support and encouragement watching a canoe of eight young paddlers paddle in to complete their journey.

Our expedition brought people together. It proved that the sense of pride within the people and the pride in our culture is very much alive.

As modern day Voyageurs, being able to experience firsthand a taste of what our ancestors faced is not an experience that we take for granted. Our expedition was a test of determination, commitment, pride, motivation, accountability, responsibility, patience and passion. All of these qualities that have been put to the test are that much stronger to bring into our every day lives after being a Voyageur.

The beauty of nature and the eeriness of paddling through lakes and rivers that were once a common passage for many Voyageurs before us is an experience we all realize is very unique and special. Our experiences, connections, and people we met along our trip this summer are priceless. We are proud to have paddled alongside seven other remarkable young Métis youth and those friendships we are sure will last a lifetime. MNO citizens, employees, and friends also planned to come and watch us paddle in and to celebrate our accomplishment with pride.

“The day of our arrival has come at last. Ninety days are now behind us and the high excitement of completing our 2,000 km canoe expedition is in the air! It is definitely a bittersweet feeling that the whole crew feels. The success and achievement of not only being able to complete the trip from Ottawa to Thunder Bay, but also of being able to stay dedicated, committed, and an unbroken team of eight paddlers is reward in itself. The reality of what the end of the trip means is also very present in our group and the goodbyes that will be following in a few short days will be hard!”

Although the weather during the day was not looking too promising, our original scheduled arrival was able to be kept as the team of Voyageurs are determined to arrive by 7 pm at Chippewa Park, Thunder Bay, rain or shine. For some of us, family had traveled across Ontario to watch us paddle in and to celebrate our accomplishment with pride. MNO citizens, employees, and friends also planned to come and watch the arrival.

Our expedition showed that supporting the youth is pivotal and also vital as the youth are the future of the nation. It also showed that not only the need of community, but the need for passion within the community is very fragile. Landing on shore and watching that passion ignite within individuals, and also within ourselves is something that hopefully will not be easily lost.

arriving at the park, the expedition stopped to have their own private moment where they shared heartfelt messages to one another before coming around the corner to the beach.

“At first we didn’t see anyone,” explained Geneviève. “It was very disappointing to think that no one had come out to see us, then we changed our angle to the shore and the adrenaline rushed in as we saw the largest crowd that has ever come out to meet us.”

“It felt like the whole nation was cheering us on,” added Gerald.

Emily Ingram couldn’t agree more with Gerald’s remark. “Paddling into the clearing of the beach was an ‘aw’ moment for me,” she said. “It was truly amazing.”

This moment brought feelings of nostalgia to guide Jeremy Brown, “Paddling into Chippewa Park was a surreal moment for me,” he said. “Ten years ago, it was the very spot that I departed on my first journey and now 10 years later, it is where I am ending the journey that I am not just a participant on, but the guide. It really brings things full circle for me.”

Josh also felt a special significance to the final arrival in Thunder Bay. “I am starting a major chapter of my life this fall when I begin at Lakehead University,” he said. “I feel as though I paddled my way to law school.”

After meeting the eager and excited crowd that awaited them on the shore, the canoe expedition participants took a moment for a tobacco offering. Each was provided a pouch of tobacco at the beginning of their journey and now to symbolize the end, they continued the traditions of their Voyageur ancestors and placed bits of tobacco in the water of Lake Superior.

After their arrival, the expedition joined MNO citizens and delegates at the MNO 21st AGA where they were honoured by MNO President Gary Lipinski and Minister of Aboriginal Affairs, David Zimmer. The crowd stood and cheered for the modern day Voyageurs as each was presented with a poster map of their journey, a plaque of recognition from the Ontario Government, and Jean Teillet’s book Métis Law in Canada.

“The standing ovation was extremely meaningful,” said Emily. “Persistence really does pay off.”

“It was so exciting to meet Jean Teillet and have her sign a copy of her book as I hope to venture into Aboriginal law,” said Josh.

Throughout the rest of the AGA the canoe expedition took part in cultural activities while sharing their experiences on the open water with MNO citizens and friends.

Although their journey is now at a close, the lessons, friendships, memories and skills gained will last a lifetime.

“I learned so much on this journey,” said Gerald. “Jeremy was not only my guide, he was my teacher. Throughout the trek I was able to do what I love and build a network with the tourism industry along the way… It has given me a grounded vision of what I want to do for my career.”

A big heartfelt “Marsi” to the Lauzon family

Submitted by: Joseph Paquette, MNO Veterans’ Council President

On June 7, the Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) Veterans’ Council presented MNO citizen Roger Lauzon, wife Julie along with their two sets of beautiful twin boys with the MNO Veterans’ Council Appreciation Certificate for their continuous support of the Council and MNO veterans.

Roger is an MNO citizen who has supported MNO veterans since the Council elections of 2012. The Lauzon family has been instrumental in providing funding for the Council to purchase additional Louis Riel Medals in 2013. This provided the Council with the capacity to continue recognizing verified MNO veterans with the issue of the Louis Riel Commemorative Medal.

Also most noteworthy was the Lauzon family’s contribution which provided the opportunity to have 100 year old Métis veteran Alexander Boucher and his caregiver attend the 2013 AGA in Ottawa. This was veteran Boucher’s first time in Ottawa and his presence at the AGA was an inspirational moment for all in attendance.

While presenting the Lauzon family with the Certificate of Appreciate, they once again generously provided private funding to the Council. The funds received will be applied towards the purchase of additional Louis Riel Medals, ribbons, sashes and wreaths.

The MNO Veterans’ Council is very grateful for the support and contributions that the Lauzon family has provided to support MNO veterans and the Council. A big heartfelt “Marsi” is surely in order.

Celebration of Life for Pete Grisdale

Submitted by: Joseph Paquette, MNO Veterans’ Council President

A celebration of life for Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) veteran Peter Grisdale was held in Moon River, Wood’s Bay this Aboriginal Day. The celebration was organized by his daughter, Deborah MacDonald.

Peter, “Pete” was a World War II veteran and a verified member of the MNO veterans. Pete had many accomplishments, one having received the Order of The Sash presented to him by the Métis National Council (MNC) President at the MNO 2011 AGA.

The MNO Veterans’ Council would like to thank Deborah for allowing the Council to participate in this important event by providing a wreath with embroidered sash and acknowledging their fellow veteran.

WE SHALL REMEMBER THEM.

Métis Bundle of joy

Submitted by: The LePage Family

With the recent arrival of his granddaughter, Rielle, Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) citizen Bernie LePage is proud to say there are now four generations of his family. Daughter of Rose LePage, Rielle Kimberly Dixon who is named after Louis Riel, was born on April 2, 2014 in Parry Sound at 9:27 a.m. She weighed 6lbs, 10 oz. Congratulations to the LePage family on their new bundle of joy! =

Buried on an island along the Mississagi River are the remains of several of my father Antoine McCoy’s ancestors Henry, Mary, Edward & Jane Sayer. Henry Sayer’s son was Robert Sayer and he had a daughter Virginia Sayer who married Edouard McCoy.

Henry was born in 1784 and according to his tombstone located in the Sayer property at the Village of Mississagi near Blind River, he was 85 years old at the time of death in 1869.

Henry is listed as the Métis son of Obemau-Unoqua and John Sayer in the Treaty of Fond du Lac of Lake Superior with the Chippewa that was signed on August 5, 1826.

Henry worked as a clerk for the North West Company from 1801-1820 at different posts from Nipissing to Fort William. He then worked as a clerk in charge for the Hudson Bay Company from 1821-1862 and during those years he worked at different posts until he retired, in the employ of Andrew Mitchell in Mississagi, Lake Huron.

On one side of the highway is the Mississaugi Reserve and on the left side of the road was once the Sayer property which is now crown land. Behind is a painting of O’Nanskie as a young soldier. O’Nanskie has done significant travel over the years. Now 88 years old, his living room walls are adorned with service medals and awards. Upon his return home, O’Nanski worked 40 years at Haley Industries. =

Artists unite in Harmony of Nations Music Festival

Submitted by: Wanda Botsford, Original articles by The Westend Weekly and Heather Latter, Fort Frances Times Online

"Our goals were to work towards bringing together the four cultures and we did do that," said event co-ordinator Shannon Darby. "We did that from an organization point of view, in terms of getting volunteers, we did that with the musicians, and we did that from the audiences point of view too."

Held Friday and Saturday under the big tent at the waterfront, the festival featured a solid lineup of highly-regarded musical entertainment by award-winning singer-songwriters and up-and-coming local stars—ranging from folk and bluegrass to country and rock.

Both days also were filled with vendor displays, community performances, and interactive artist workshops.

"I am very happy with the quality of the musicians, the commitment and talent of the volunteers; and the audience response," said Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) citizen Wanda Botsford, a member of the organizing committee. "I thought it was an awesome weekend."

The festival kicked off with opening ceremonies that featured flags from Canada, United States, Métis Nation and First Nations, as well as children dressed to reflect their nation. Flag carriers were MNO Regional Councillor Theresa Stenlund, Deputy Mayor John Stenlund, Deputy Mayor John McCaig, and the Sloughgrass Family Band.

"One of our other goals was getting local musicians involved in the performances and having youth involvement," Darby noted, citing they had a lot of young people out at the workshops, as well as some young musicians who performed.

Workshops included Métis and Ojibway activities, as well as learning about fiddler Sierra Noble overcoming bullying, the "Art of Looping" with Jean-Paul de Roover, and song-writing with Shy-Anne Howorka.

"I think the workshops gave insight into what their art was, what their lifestyle was like, and all the artists are great people," Darby stressed. "They were open to meeting the public and open to sharing their stories and interacting."

"I hope the workshops helped to motivate participants in the arts and gave them some technical knowledge that they may never have had access to," Botsford indicated. "The performances were memorable and such high quality that they were motivating for anyone in the audience to go home and practise their instruments."

Darby noted a decision has not yet been made as to whether the "Harmony of Nations" Music Festival will run again next year.

"I think one of our big successes this year was bringing in a great diversity of performers and types of music," she explained. "And they were all very skilled musicians. The performances were all really great. I think we were proud of what we could offer in our first year."
Métis veterans pledged to protect this great country and its people, and the MNO Veterans’ Council continues to help them live up to that pledge. The Council represents Métis veterans within the MNO, works with youth and community councils to encourage recognition of veteran contributions and achievements and participates in veterans events. The Council supports veterans by helping where and when it can and works to ensure that the great sacrifices made by every veteran are remembered and commemorated.

MNO COUNCIL HELPS PLANT 1,250 TREES

Submitted by: Larry J. Ferris, MNO Georgian Bay Métis Council Chairperson

Members of the Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) Georgian Bay Métis Council recently volunteered with tree planting efforts along the Georgian Bay. MNO citizens and Métis youth all took part in the volunteer work.

The Council and other volunteers’ efforts were in hopes to replenish and repair the Georgian Bay wooded areas. This is crucial to the environment as planting the trees allow surrounding ponds to start reforming as the trees help hold moisture and provide ground cover for the wet areas raising the water table.

The tree planting would not have been possible without the generosity of the North Simcoe Anglers and Hunters who provided 1,250 trees that included 26 different species, all of which are native to the area.

To end the event, the MNO Georgian Bay Métis Council youth group hosted a barbeque for all the volunteers. The young Métis served handmade venison burgers and hot dogs at Gidley’s Restaurant, a well-known Métis hangout in the area.

Celebrating Métis culture and heritage

Submitted by: Glen Lipinski, MNO Community Relations Coordinator

On June 21, Métis from across the homeland celebrated National Aboriginal Day, a day to celebrate culture and heritage and to remember the contributions made by Aboriginal peoples to Canada.

National Aboriginal Day is an opportunity for Métis and other Aboriginal people to remind fellow Canadians of the very important contributions made by Métis, First Nations and Inuit peoples to this country. Local Aboriginal Day celebrations are a great opportunity to showcase what it means to be Métis. Being so, Aboriginal Day events were held by many Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) communities across the province including Welland who held a Métis picnic at Memorial Park, Owen Sound who hosted the MNO Canoe Expedition and MNO organized events in Kingston and Pembroke.

Local officials also joined in on the celebrations. Welland Mayor Barry Sharpe attended the Métis Picnic event and joined the MNO Niagara Region Métis Council for food and celebrations. In Owen Sound, Mayor Deborah Haswell joined the MNO Great Lakes Métis Council in welcoming the MNO Canoe Expedition.

It was a great day of celebrations surrounded by loved ones and friends.

To end the event, the MNO Georgian Bay Métis Council youth group hosted a barbeque for all the volunteers. The young Métis served handmade venison burgers and hot dogs at Gidley’s Restaurant, a well-known Métis hangout in the area.

A connection of all elements: Stand-up paddle boarding

Submitted by: Rachelle Brunelle-McColl, MNO Employment Developer

O n a beautiful warm morning, slightly overcast on Georgian Bay, surrounded by the sound of water, a landscape of trees and the smell of the sand and beach, a group of five Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) staff members from the MNO Midland office took on a challenge during their own personal time. That challenge was a half day of stand-up paddle boarding lessons by Scott Parent, a Métis entrepreneur from Fathom Paddle Guiding based out of Tobermory, Ontario.

The participants included Debbie Giannattola-Ferris, MNO Community Support Service Coordinator; Jo-Anne Parent, MNO Regional Education and Training Coordinator; Tracy Bald, MNO Community Wellness Coordinator; Jodi Bue, MNO Healthy Weights Connection Coordinator; and Rachelle Brunelle-McColl, MNO Employment Developer.

Immediately all five women exchanged their thoughts of what the day would include and their optimism of how well they will do at this unknown sport. As MNO staff, they also exchanged opinions of how this experience encompasses the existing programs and services offered to MNO citizens. Whether it is education and training, health and wellness or healthy weights connection, Fathom Paddle Guiding reflects the mission, vision and values within each of those, along with a strong connection to our culture and bond to the waterways of Ontario.

Parent took time to review all safety concerns and gave great detail on each of the different paddle boards that were going to be used during the lesson. Immediately it was obvious that his passion for this sport and the outdoors was his driving force in how he instructed. Parent has always been an outdoor enthusiast and has extensive training as a lifeguard, rock climbing, and wilderness survival. He has taken his knowledge and turned it into a business to educate others and promote a healthy lifestyle.

Each participant chose a board and made their way into the water, which initially was a bit of a shock as the early morning chill hadn’t yet lifted. Parent covered several beginner techniques such as stances, body positioning and paddling strokes. He also reminded everyone to not be afraid to fall in the water and to embrace it. With the slight breeze in the air, being surrounded by mild surf on the water, beautiful rock formations and view of beautiful Christian Island combined a therapeutic and spiritual experience.

Parent was very observant in each participant’s physical abilities and goals for the day. He altered his teaching methods and took the needed time with each participant to discuss techniques and best approaches for being successful at the sport. As participants became more comfortable on the boards, each independently traveled along the water and took in a deep appreciation for their surroundings. They also had a lot of fun learning the techniques, “embracing” their falls into the water and being able to laugh at themselves during some awkward moments.

During a short break, the women gathered on the secluded beach and had a wonderful brunch and shared how the overall experience really was a true connection amongst each other. All agreed that as the sport can be physically demanding at times, the relaxed learning environment made it very therapeutic.

They then decided to challenge themselves with a goal to paddle across the Bay to the lighthouse located on Christian Island. Not a usual first time lesson goal as Parent said, however they felt up for the challenge. When reaching the Island the accomplished feeling they felt was surreal.

“The overall experience I had with this group of ladies was beyond wonderful,” said Rachelle Brunelle-McColl. “Having time to ourselves to learn and laugh, get in touch with nature and some self-reflection of my culture is certainly something I plan to do again and again!”

GOLD CANYON RESOURCES INC.

Gold Canyon Resources Inc. is a Canadian-based company engaged in the acquisition, exploration and development of precious and rare metal properties. The Company controls a 100% interest in the Springpole Gold Project, located in the Red Lake Mining District of Ontario, Canada. The Company controls over 80,000 acres in this area.

Gold Canyon announced an updated NI43-101 compliant resource estimate for the Springpole Gold Project in 2012, followed by a positive Preliminary Economic Assessment in 2013, completed by SRK Consulting (Canada) Inc.

Additional diamond drilling and geophysical surveys were conducted in 2013. These data will allow Gold Canyon to upgrade additional resources from inferred to indicated, and provide geotechnical data to be used in optimization of mining design parameters. The Environmental Assessment for the Springpole Gold Access Corridor Project concluded in May 2014 and Gold Canyon is currently seeking the required permits before initiating construction.

Gold Canyon values its relationship with the Aboriginal communities of the Springpole Gold Project area and is committed to building collaborative and mutually beneficial relationships in support of Gold Canyon’s exploration within their asserted traditional territories. The Company believes the Springpole Gold Project will provide a strong opportunity for economic and community development of the area.

Métis self-governance in action
Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) citizen Don Kennedy, who is a retired Canadian Armed Forces Major and an honorary Korean War veteran, was the fundraising director and designer of the RCN Ships in Korea Memorial Monument that was unveiled on July 28 at Spencer Park in Burlington.

A year ago, Kennedy and Andy Barber, a Korean Naval veteran who served on HMCS Halifax; Ron Kirk, a Korean War Naval veteran who served on HMCS Iroquois; Gerry Trudell; and Rev. Bill Thomas, formed the KVA Unit 26 ROK Memorial Project Committee to raise funds to invite Korean War veterans from Korea to Canada to participate in the commemorative events of the “Year of Korea 2013” and “Year of Korean War Veterans”. The project also included the idea to erect the Royal Canadian Naval Ships monument to commemorate the Destroyers that served during the Korean War and the UN Peace Keeping duties from 1950 to 1955.

Together, we preserved an important part of the Royal Canadian Naval history which was forgotten for over 60 years...” — Don Kennedy

There were over 200 guests in attendance at the unveiling ceremony including Defence Minister Rob Nicholson, Veteran Affairs Minister Julian Fantino, Senator Yonah Martin, Mike Wallace, M.P. Burlington Mayor Rick Goldring, Rear Admiral Jennifer Bennett, R.O.K. Defence Attaché Jung Min Choi, Deputy Speaker of R.O.K. National Assembly Kap Yoon Jeong, R.O.K. Consul Sang Soo Lee, 24 students from Korea, and Korean War veterans and their family members.

The morning rain caused worry however, as soon as Rev. Bill Thomas blessed the monument, a stream of light came from the sky and shone upon the monument stopping the rain like a miracle. The nine sailors’ spirits were with them and their names will be remembered for many generations. They now have a resting place at home.

The Korean students provided readings of poems they wrote for the occasion. There was not a single dry eye when the young Korean students read their poems, “Thank you Korean War veterans” and delivered the signed thank you banner to the Korean War veterans.

The Halton Naval Veterans Association provided invaluable financial support for the project. Without their support, the monument would still be a dream and another 60 years would have passed by. The committee members would also like to send their sincere appreciation to Veteran Affairs Canada for the monument grant and all the generous donors.

“Together, we preserved an important part of the Royal Canadian Naval history which was forgotten for over 60 years,” said Kennedy. “At the event, a Korean student whispered in my ear “God Bless you” and I would like to resend his message to all Canadian Naval veterans who served during the Korean War and UN Peace Keeping Mission and their family members. God Bless You All!” — Don Kennedy

Timmins National Aboriginal Day

Submitted by: Kirk Fournier, MNO Employment Developer and Ryan Plante, MNO Community Wellness Coordinator

On Saturday June 21, 2014, marked a beautiful and exciting day for the several hundred Timmins and area residents who took part in sharing Métis, First Nation, and Inuit culture at Hollinger Park. Attendees were entertained by local fiddle music, as well as First Nations drum groups and singers. The event also featured information booths, children’s activities, and a wild game feast.

Fort Frances Métis Fall Celebration

On September 7, the Métis Nation of Ontario Sunset Métis Council and MNO staff held a Métis Fall Celebration. Although celebrating the beginning of the harvest, it was a warm summer day. It was a successful event with close to 120 people in attendance. A variety of activities were offered throughout the day including bannock making, rug of war, the poison circle, scavenger hunts and the ever so popular Métis Voyager Games.

The evening ended with a fish Fry and MNO President Gary Lipinskas congratulated the Council and MNO staff members for hosting such a successful event. He also commented on the vast number of youth who attended and participated in all that the celebration had to offer.

The Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) Oshawa and Durham Region Métis Council, would like to apologise to any unsuspecting motorists, traveling north on Simcoe Street, or south on Centre Street, the weekend of June 21 - 22. The Council is sure that the sight of tipis set up in a park of a major urban centre, would have caused more than a few of you to experience one of those “what the…” moments we all have from time to time. Many found a parking spot and walked back to join the hundreds of others who were helping celebrate the Council’s 8th Annual Métis Heritage Celebration.

The festivities began with MNO Veterans Guy Mandeville and Christopher Plummer, as well as Council Vice President Kevin Henry marching in and posting the colours, followed by a prayer offered by Senator Cecile Wagar. Honorary Senator Olivine Bousquet Tiedma spoke on the 10th anniversary of the Council’s conception and Senator Joseph Poirtrás brought greetings on behalf of MNO President Gary Lipinski. Greetings were also offered by newly elected Ontario Member of Provincial Parliament (MPP) Jennifer French and Oshawa Mayor John Henry, who along with the Oshawa City Council, have constantly proved that they are true friends and partners in Council celebrations.

After smudging, Council President Kristin Randall offered a warm welcome to all the many guests. The Council has never been accused of not having good singing voices, and this was proved when Youth Representative Auriele Diotte sang “Oh Canada,” and Métis Youth Shadi Shabanian-Azad offered the Métis anthem.

Serge Gagnon returned as the Master of Ceremonies (MC) for the weekend, and switching back and forth between French and English, faster than many can change their minds, took control of the stage, and began to introduce the many talented entertainers. Headliners Ariko (The Lefaive Family) from the Penetanguishene area, Métis fiddler Alicia Bote, All Our Relations Drum Circle, The Oshawa Métis Fiddlers, Olivine Bousquet Métis dancer Auriele Diotte and Métis fiddler Rudy Couture from Owen Sound kept “toes a tappin’” all weekend long. The entertainment spilled out into the park as Virginia Barter and Claire Kearns told stories of Métis culture and heritage. Marilyn Woodbridge gave the Medicine Wheel teachings, and people who previously didn’t know which end of the fiddle got tucked under your chin, were soon actually playing a tune. When they joined in with “Ariko’s” fiddle workshop, and Métis step dancer Auriele Diotte soon convinced visitors that they didn’t have two left feet after all.

As well as learning about the 26 foot birch bark canoe and Red River cart, guests got to see the many Métis cultural artifacts put on display by Andre and Brenda Rose and good friends Archie and Pierrette Martin. Métis crafts, beadwork, moccasin making, each finger weaving were being demonstrated by MNO Veteran’s Senator Alis Kennedy and Louise Vien. The Métis veterans opened many eyes to the tremendous contributions Aboriginal peoples made, in all the conflicts in which the country found itself. A great time was had by all, and of course none of it would have been possible, without the “more than generous” sponsorship, in grants and “in kind” donations, from Celebrate Canada (Canadian Heritage/Patrimoine Canadien), The City of Oshawa, and Ontario Power Generation. Hats off to the Council, their hard working volunteers, and all exhibitors and vendors, both returning and new. A special thank you goes to photographer Andree Wagar.

Gravelle presents MNO President Lipinski with Diamond Jubilee Medal

Fort Frances resident honoured for exemplary leadership

On August 23 at the Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) Annual General Assembly (AGA), the Honourable Michael Gravelle presented Fort Frances resident and MNO President, Gary Lipinski with the Queen Elizabeth Diamond Jubilee Medal.

In his capacity as Member of the Provincial Parliament for Thunder Bay—Superior North, Minister Gravelle nominated President Lipinski for the medal over a year and half ago but the 2014 AGA was the Minister’s first chance to present the medal to him in person.

Diamond Jubilee Medals recognize individuals who have made extraordinary contributions to their community, province and country. Minister Gravelle stated that he nominated President Lipinski to recognize his many successes and achievements both as MNO President and in his previous MNO leadership roles as Chair and as a Councillor for the Fort Frances area on the Provisional Council of the MNO (PCMNO).

“Your record as leader for and within the Métis community has been exemplary.”

— the Honourable Michael Gravelle

President Lipinski indicated that he was very gratified to receive the medal at the AGA in front of the MNO citizens and guests gathered for the AGA.

In response, President Lipinski stated: “This is a well-deserved honour. I proudly share this appointment with all those I was blessed to work with along the way.”

Current MNO President Gary Lipinski said: “It’s a great honour to be named an Officer of the Order of Canada. It is a lifetime achievement and recognition of Métis leadership. I am very fortunate to have a very good team to work with.”

Tony Belcourt invested as an Officer of the Order of Canada

On September 12 former Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) President Tony Belcourt was invested into the Order of Canada as an Officer by His Excellency, the Right Honourable David Johnston, Governor General of Canada.

The investiture ceremony was held at Rideau Hall in Ottawa and Mr. Belcourt was among four companions, 14 officers and 31 members who were invested into the Order.

Mr. Belcourt was recognized for his work in giving a voice to Canada’s Métis community. A respected leader and advocate, he has worked tirelessly to remove barriers faced by Indigenous peoples. He was co-founder and first president of the Native Council of Canada, and contributed to the official recognition of Métis as one of Canada’s Aboriginal peoples in the Constitution Act, 1982. He was the founding president of the MNO, and in that role laid the foundation for what has become a strong government for Métis in Ontario.

“It’s a great honour to be named an Officer of the Order of Canada,” stated Mr. Belcourt, “in accepting it, however, I know that this recognition is because of a lifetime work that I shared with everyone who joined the struggle for justice and recognition of Métis rights.” Together we turned the tide of 137 years of systemic discrimination by the Government of Ontario. Together we’ve achieved a better place and a better future for our people. I proudly share this appointment with all those I was blessed to work with along the way.”

Current MNO President Gary Lipinski stated: “This is a well-deserved honour. Tony’s contributions to Métis and Aboriginal causes over five decades were pivotal in improvements made in the lives of Aboriginal people across Canada and particularly for Métis in Ontario during that period. He continues to be a mentor and a role model for so many of us.”

The Order of Canada was created in 1967, during Canada’s centennial year, to recognize outstanding achievement, dedication to the community and service to the nation. Since its creation, more than 6,000 people from all sectors of society have been invested into the Order.
Métis youth wins national emerging artist award

Original article from Atikokan Progress

Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) citizen, artist Emlyn Cameron is following her family tradition of Aboriginal traditional story-telling through her art—and one piece has now earned her Historica Canada’s Aboriginal Arts & Stories award in June.

The 12-year-old (she was 11 when she submitted her piece, “We Are One”) was unable to attend the tenth annual awards ceremony held in Gatineau, Quebec, but was “excited and really surprised” to discover she was one of three first place art category winners from youth across Canada.

Not only was her work a part of a June 3 exhibition at the Canadian Museum of History, she is also the very first winner in the new ‘emerging artist’ category (11-13) included this year.

The arts and literary competition is open to First Nations, Métis and Inuit contestants aged 11 to 29 from across the country, and six winners were chosen out of 420 submissions.

The awards are “in celebration of rich and distinct heritage through literary and visual arts,” notes Historica Canada. “The stories and art pieces submitted to the contest touch upon topics of national importance, like the tragic history, she is also the very first winner in the new ‘emerging artist’ category (11-13) included this year.

The loon is the bird Cameron’s mother who is also a Métis artist, has adopted as her totem, a spiritual animal which has special meaning to an individual in Aboriginal culture.

“When I found out the loon was my mom’s totem animal, I decided to make the loon [in the painting] represent her,” explained Cameron. “She just went through cancer treatment and she said she lost touch with the loon and became sick. She forgot to live a more tranquil life, nourishing herself, her mind, body, and heart.”

“Now she is nourishing all of us,” continued Cameron. “Going through a scary and stressful situation which accompanied her award-winning acrylic painting.

“I chose to do this painting because I feel connected to loons,” she wrote. “They are a part of me and I am one of them; a part of nature. Hearing the loons in the evening makes me feel very peaceful when I am at the lake. Hearing the first call in the summer is what I look forward to.”

Cameron recounts how her love of the bird has meant more since her mother’s cancer diagnosis and treatments. The paintings brilliantly depicted life forces which connect the loon to the rest of nature, has been somewhat therapeutic for a young girl dealing with this stressful situation.

Cameron enters Grade 7 at Atikokan High School this fall and even though there isn’t an art program there anymore, she will continue the art tutelage she has received from a young artist from her mother.

While Cameron generally leans toward realism as her preferred art, but she said she does enjoy dabbling in the Aboriginal style, as with the loon piece.

“I have been influenced by my mom’s art and her teachings about meanings in art, colours and techniques,” said Cameron.

She added that this award has been very validating for a fledgling artist.

“I always feel like my paintings wouldn’t be good enough [to win an award]. This has made me feel more confident.” Congratulations! *

Senator McKay receives two OPSBA awards

Congratulations to Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) Senator Bob McKay, who has been chosen as the recipient of two Ontario Public School Board’s Association (OPSBA) awards, the 2014 Achievement Award and the 2014 Award of Excellence.

The OPSBA Achievement Award was created to recognize the outstanding contributions of non-teaching staff, parents, volunteers and community partners involved in public education. This award celebrates excellence and recognizes the work of all members of the education community.

Senator McKay has been a valued member of the Lakehead Public Schools Aboriginal Education Advisory Committee since 2008 and is involved in countless committees that represent the Thunder Bay Aboriginal community. Senator McKay lends his breadth of knowledge and skills to many Lakehead Public School events and activities. He is well known for his dedication to Lakehead Public Schools students and for his infectious sense of humour.

Senator Bob McKay was nominated for the OPSBA Achievement award by Suzanne Tardi, Parent Representative on the Aboriginal Education Advisory Committee for his efforts in supporting public education and the students at Lakehead Public Schools.

“When Senator McKay shares his stories, he not only helps children and youth understand an earlier way of life, he also helps to preserve the right cultural history of the Thunder Bay area,” says Suzanne Tardi in her letter of nomination.

The award was presented at the June 24 Board Meeting where Senator McKay was formally recognized for this exceptional accomplishment.

Senator McKay was also presented with the 2014 OPSBA Award of Excellence at the meeting. The OPSBA Awards Selection Committee of the Lakehead District School Board was unanimous in their decision to submit Senator McKay for this prestigious award. This annual award is given to an outstanding Ontario public school volunteer for outstanding community service and leadership.”
Canoeist Mike Ranta at it again!

Paddler’s home town arrival marks half-way point of 8,000 km trek

Original article from Atikokan Progress. With contributions from: Darlene Davidson, MNO Atikokan and Area Métis Council President and Ken Simard, MNO Region 2 Captain of the Hunt

In 2011, Atikokan’s own Mike Ranta (and his dog Spitz) embarked on a 5,200 kilometer trip which he completed in 132 days. Now, warmed-up from his recent journey, Mike Ranta and Spitz set off on an 8,000 km canoe trip. An epic adventure that will take this self-identified Métis coast to coast from Vancouver to the Cape Breton Island, it is anticipate to take 180 days.

Ranta’s goal is to get as many Canadians out as possible to join in on what he calls the ultimate Canadian experience. He said he hopes to see many supporters along the way, whether paddling alongside him, or even just to sharing stories and experiences of the great Canadian wilderness.

Besides aiming to set a record for the world’s longest solo paddle, Ranta said he wants to inspire young people in his community through his journey, by fundraising for Atikokan Youth Initiatives, an incorporated non-profit charitable organization that is developing a new youth centre for teens in Atikokan.

Since April, Ranta has already crossed three mountain ranges which included portages of more than 100 km and the vast and windy North Saskatchewan River that spans the Prairies. Ranta has recently entered the portion of his journey that will take him through the rugged Canadian Shield that covers Northwestern Ontario, and the wild and unforgiving Lake Superior.

From there, it’s the beautiful Ottawa Valley and into the fast St. Lawrence River. Following the shores of the St. Lawrence will bring him into the Maritime provinces. After several portages, he’ll be into the powerful tides of the Bay of Fundy before portaging to Cape Breton Island, it is anticipate to take 180 days.

Danton Delbaere-Sawchuk, the cellist for the award-winning Métis Fiddler Quartet and recent Honours graduate of Toronto’s College Francais, can now add International Yoga Sport Federation’s ‘World Youth Champion’ to his impressive list of accomplishments.

Having placed third at the 2013 competition in Los Angeles, the 18-year-old travelled to London, England for this year’s event, determined to improve his result. The outcome of the London competition represents a significant landmark in Danton’s yoga practice.

Throughout his journey, he’s fundraising for Atikokan Youth Initiatives, an incorporated non-profit charitable organization that is developing a new youth centre for teens in Atikokan.

Christi Belcourt receives 2014 Ontario Arts Council Aboriginal Arts Award

Original article by the Ontario Arts Council

Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) citizen, visual artist and author Christi Belcourt is the 2014 recipient of the Ontario Arts Council (OAC) Aboriginal Arts Award. Created in 2012, the award recognizes the work of Aboriginal artists and arts leaders who have made significant contributions to the arts in Ontario.

The $10,000 prize was presented at the Art Gallery of Ontario (AGO) exhibition Before and After the Horizon: Anishinaabe Artists of the Great Lakes on Wednesday, July 30. The event also included the unveiling of a new work commissioned from Belcourt by the AGO.

Belcourt accepted the award and addressed the full house at the Art Gallery of Ontario’s opening reception: “I accept the nomination and the award from my peers – but I also accept this award with a great sense of responsibility, as it makes me uncomfortable to receive an award for my work for the missing and murdered women. It makes me feel as though I am receiving this on the backs of my sisters.”

“Christi’s deep respect for the world around us is exemplified in the syner-gies between her art and her community work,” said Peter Caldwell, Director & CEO, Ontario Arts Council. “We are proud that this year’s Aboriginal Arts Award celebrates her accomplishments.”

“Now is an important time to honour Christi, her leadership and the gravitas of her work,” noted the jury. “Her art and activism cannot be separated. She is an inspiring and vital voice in the community – a humble spirit and a force of nature.”

Belcourt’s work can be found in the permanent collections of the National Gallery of Canada, the Gabriel Dumont Institute, and the Nature Conservancy of Canada, among other leading institutions.

Her work commemorating residential school survivors and communities, Youngannedmaaning (Looking Ahead), was rendered in stained glass and installed at Centre Block on Parliament Hill. It is only the second stained glass work to be commissioned for the Parliament buildings in recent years.

Belcourt is currently leading Walking with Our Sisters, a community-driven project that honours murdered or missing Indigenous women. Touring to 32 locations across North America through to the year 2020, the exhibit/memorial includes over 1,700 pairs of moccasin tops – intentionally not sewn into complete moccasins – that were created by over 1,300 people of all ages and cultural backgrounds.

The OAC Aboriginal Arts Award also honours the next generation of artists: each year, the award recipient is invited to nominate an emerging Aboriginal artist to receive a $2,500 prize. Belcourt selected visual artist and dancer Jaime Koebeal as this year’s emerging Aboriginal artist.

The AGO exhibition Before and After the Horizon: Anishinaabe Artists of the Great Lakes is happening from July 26 – November 25, 2014.

Christi Belcourt receives Influential Women of Northern Ontario award

Original article by Jonathan Mignéaut - Sudbury Northern Life

The Influential Women of Northern Ontario awards recognized the Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) citizen Christi Belcourt, as well as five other women for their business accomplishments and contributions to the community during the northeastern Ontario gala at Sudbury’s Radisson Hotel.

“I was just totally blown away with the calibre of women who won this year,” said Patricia Mills, the publisher of Northern Ontario Business, which presented the awards. “These are women from Northern Ontario and they’re making a difference.”

The Aboriginal leadership winner Christi Belcourt was presented with the Aboriginal leadership award. At the awards ceremony, Belcourt called on the audience to ask for justice for the more than 800 Indigenous women in Canada who have gone missing or have been murdered.

Belcourt, a visual artist from Spainola, spearheaded the Walking with our Sisters memorial and art exhibit, which features 1,725 pairs of unfinished moccasins meant to represent the unfin-ished lives of the missing and murdered women.

Others awarded include Sarah Hunter, Debbi Nicholson, Crystal Kaufman and Nicole Saulnier-

Métis veteran receives highest decoration in France

Original article by The Recorder. Photo Credit: The Recorder

During his most recent visit to France for Battle of Normandy commemorations, the Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) citizen and Second World War veteran Donn Fowler received the highest distinction that can be bestowed by France.

Fowler was among 90 recipients, and nine Canadians, to receive the Legion of Honour, the highest decoration in France. Fowler received the Chevalier (Knight degree) of the Legion of Honour at a ceremony in Caen. Only those veterans who served in the Battle of Normandy from June 6 to August 31, 1944 were eligible for a Legion of Honour medal.

“Now is an important time to honour Christi, her leadership and the gravitas of her work. Her art and activism cannot be separated. She is an inspiring and vital voice in the community – a humble spirit and a force of nature.”

WWE superstar thankful for MNO programming

Anthony Carelli, better known by his ring name Santino Marella, is a Métis professional wrestler who was signed with the World Wrestling Entertainment (WWE) for eight years until his recent retirement. A proud Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) citizen, Carelli has had a very successful career as a professional wrestler, a career he believes would not have been possible without the support of the MNO.

Born and raised in Mississauga, Ontario, Carelli began his journey to stardom in 2006 after training at Ohio Valley Wrestling, an American developmental wrestling promotion for the WWE located in Louisville, Kentucky. A renowned institution, Carelli was able to attend thanks to assistance provided through MNO’s Education and Training programs. The MNO Métis Training Purchase Program provided funding which paid for Carelli’s tuition and also assisted with his living expenses while training in the United States. As the institution was outside of Ontario, Carelli was required to provide a supplemental essay explaining why this American institution provided better offerings than Canada.

“The school offered the best in-stigation and direct access to the WWE so I knew I would be in the right place,” explained Carelli. “I wouldn’t have been able to afford my training or at least survive the whole year without the assistance of the MNO.”

Shortly after training, Carelli’s dream came true as he was hired by the WWE as a headlining wrestler. As a sports entertainer with the WWE, Carelli was able to showcase his talents to the world live in the ring and by being featured on the WWE Monday Night Raw television program since April 2007.

“MNO programming worked for me and I could not have achieved what I have without the jump start they provided,” said Carelli.

Not only is Carelli a professional wrestler, he is also an entrepreneur. Wanting to provide the same quality training he received in the United States, in 2013 Carelli founded his own coaching and training centre in Mississauga called Battle Arts Academy. The centre is a 15,000 square foot state of the art, multi-use facility which provides an elite level of coaching and training in mixed martial arts, professional wrestling, and strength and conditioning.

“Thankful for the support the MNO provided when beginning his career, Carelli is offering MNO citizens a reduced rate to attend his facility.”

The MNO was so helpful to me that I want to pay it forward and help provide young inspiring Métis athletes the same opportunity I had,” explained Carelli. “I want to give the gift of fitness for a very reduced rate.”

A two-time WWE Intercontinental Champion, one-time WWE United States Champion and a one-time WWE Tag Team Champion, there is no doubt that Carelli has a very successful career. After a third neck injury, Carelli declared his retirement from the WWE on July 6 and plans to continue training youth at his Mississauga facility. Carelli is yet another shining example of an MNO citizen achieving their highest potential.
Timmins Métis youth swims to seven golds at NAIG

Original article by: Benjamin Aubé, Timmins Press

P atrick Barrette, son of Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) citizen Robert Barrette, won a gold medal at the 2014 North American Indigenous Games in Regina. Then he won another. Then another, and so on. In the end, Barrette finished with seven gold medals to his name.

Through a constant smile, the outgoing young Timmins swimmer, just 15 years old, described his experience at the Games, which were attended by close to 5,000 young athletes from across the continent.

"It was a lot of fun," said Barrette. "There were a lot of new people to meet - like, a lot of people. You get to bond with your teammates and see the different cultures there, and you get to know your culture more, and appreciate it. Not many people get this experience, right?"

Barrette, whose father Robert is of Métis heritage from the Peneunguashua area, highlighted an extremely impressive performance by Timmins athletes at the NAIG. Along with a pair of team relay gold medals, Barrette also took top honours in the 50 and 100 metre freestyle events, the 100 metre breaststroke and the 200 metre backstroke. His brightest moment came in the 200 metre individual medley, where he took 12 seconds off his personal best time on his way to yet another gold.

Robert and Jo-Anne Barrette, who accompanied Patrick to Regina for the Games, were clearly proud of their son’s exploits in the water. However, Robert explained that Patrick’s willingness to learn about his Métis ancestry and the experience he absorbed in Regina will serve him well beyond his time in the pool.

"He’s got some mentoring from Brent,” said Robert, “and when he comes back, we’ve got Tracy pushing him hard now. He’ll get to where he wants to get if that’s what he really wants.”

With a few more days to back in his experience at the NAIG, Barrette said there are many memories he’ll never forget. But the story of Gerald Stephens, which have helped him reach many of his goals. He also credited his coaches Kelly Baker and Tracy McCartney of the Timmins Marlins Swim Club.

"That kid had never swam in his life. He learned how to swim in two hours. He came out with two bronze medals and a silver. That was just the best experience.

"It was a lot of fun," said Barrette. "It was a lot of fun. I met a family, and I’ve heard in my life. I met a family, and I’ve heard in my life. I met a family, and I’ve heard in my life. I met a family, and I’ve heard in my life."

With his unforgettable performance, it’s possible some of the aquatic events will be held in the mighty Amazon River.

Barrette could hardly contain his excitement at the prospect, and his parents, too, admitted they were looking forward to the trip.

"We’re going to end up probably going to Brazil with him," said Robert. "He’ll go and enjoy himself, and the parents will definitely go and check out the different events out there. It’s nice because it covers all the sports: Baseball, lacrosse, soccer, archery, shooting, badminton, kayaking. It should be a lot of fun.”

Barrette made sure to thank those who’ve made the impressive start to his swimming career possible. He explained he’d had financial support from organizations such as the Métis Nation of Ontario Timmins Council, Detour Gold, Centre culturel la Ronde, J.L. Richards, as well as family friends, the Stephens, which have helped him reach many of his goals. He also credited his coaches Kelly Baker and Tracy McCartney of the Timmins Marlins Swim Club.

"I really appreciate all the support," he said.

"My parents come out, and my mom is at almost every single meet. She’s the loudest screamer I’ve ever heard in my life. I met a family, and the swimmer was like, ‘My mom is a very loud screamer.’ I just said, ‘You haven’t met my mom.’”

Barrette trains upwards of 30 hours a week, and pulls no punches when he talks about his long-term goals: “I want to go to the Olympics,” he says.

Looking to take the next step in his career, Barrette has formed a strong bond with Canadian Olympic hero Brent Hayden, who swam to a hard-earned and memorable bronze medal in London in 2012. If all goes well, Barrette and Hayden will be in the pool together later this summer for a training camp.

"He’s got some mentoring from Brent,” said Robert, “and when he comes back, we’ve got Tracy pushing him hard now. He’ll get to where he wants to get if that’s what he really wants.”

"We had one guy (Bunting) who was supposed to go down for volleyball, but he decided to go into swimming instead,” explained Barrette. "This kid had never swam in his life. He learned how to swim in two hours. He came out with two bronze medals and a silver. That was just the best experience.

"It’s a big guy, he’s just jacked, and he had never swam in his life. I mean, he swims in lakes for fun, and he didn’t think (swimming competitively) would be that hard. He came out saying it was harder than hockey, badminton, volleyball.

"We had a lot of fun with that guy. We were happy to get more people who don’t do the sport that often, and help them out. We just had a great time.”

Congratulation to Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) citizen April Barnes who recently graduated from the Personal Support Worker Program at Conestoga College. Mom and dad are very proud of you! The Barnes family would like to thank the MNO for all of their support.

Young Métis filmmaker makes headlines with summer camp

Submitted by: Robin Pilon

It was ‘lights, camera, action!’ in Trenton, Ontario this summer with a new youth film camp in the city run by Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) citizen Maddy Pilon. A second year Ryerson University Film Production student, filmmaker, volunteer, young entrepreneur and Founder of GetReel Film Camp, Maddy set up the camp for young aspiring filmmakers as part of her Ontario Summer Company, GetReel Productions.

Backed by the Small Business Centre, it was a huge success and earned her accolades from the students, parents, and the community alike. Maddy worked on set for the Canadian Film Centre and a number of short films, feature films and a TV pilot in Toronto early in the summer and then took a break to move back to her hometown of Trenton, Ontario to run the first ever local film camp during the last two weeks of July. “I wanted to be able to run a film camp for kids and teens in my hometown because when I was growing up there was nothing like it being offered,” said the young entrepreneur.

GetReel Film Camp offered two one-week film focused day camps filled with hands-on training, informative workshops, guest speakers and a whole lot of fun! It gave students real experience in the magic of movie making where they learned the basics of film making including writing, shooting, acting and editing their own short films. The camp wrapped up with its inaugural GetReel Film Festival, a premiere showcase of the students short films screened at the local cinema, the Centre Theatre in downtown Trenton. It was an impressive showcase indeed.

Jeremy Clark, Youth Entrepreneurship Program Coordinator at the Small Business Centre said “From the very beginning, Maddy’s GetReel Film Camp was viewed as a creative and ambitious business idea, but the results of her camp were even more outstanding - 17 wonderful youth from our community inspired to be their best and showcase their budding film production skills! Seeing the short films that Maddy’s students produced at the GetReel Film Festival was a real inspiration not to men-

COUNCIL CORNER

The Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) benefits immensely from the dedicated volunteers who are members of its Chartered Community Councils. These hard-working individuals spend hundreds of hours building and strengthening their Métis communities.

MNO councils are the cornerstone of a strong foundation for the MNO in its push toward its inherent right to self-government. MNO Councils are important communication hubs who play a significant role in fostering community empowerment and development for Métis citizens living within the geographic territory of that council.

MNO citizen recognized for academic contribution to Aboriginal community

Submitted by Dr. Alix Kennedy, C.D., O.M.C., Ph.D., MNO Veterans’ Council Senator

O n June 20, Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) Toronto and York Region Métis Council President Tera Beaulieu was awarded the President’s Award for Outstanding Native Students of the Year for the category of Graduate/Second Entry/Professional Award by the First Nations House of the University of Toronto. The President’s Award for Outstanding Native Students of the Year, is given to students of Aboriginal ancestry (status, non-status, Métis and Inuit). The recipients are chosen based on academic achievement and previous and/or intended future contributions to the Aboriginal community.

Beaulieu is a proud Métis citizen and resides in Toronto where she is currently completing her Doctor of Philosophy in the Counselling Psychology Program at OISE/University of Toronto. Beaulieu’s program of research examines the supports and challenges of Métis traditional knowledge in addressing the life transition needs (mental health, education and employment) of urban Métis homeless peoples.

Beaulieu is also the current Supervisor of Aboriginal Engagement and Outreach at the Centre for Addiction and Mental Health. Before taking on her role as President of the MNO Toronto and York Métis Council, she held the position of MNO Infinite Reach Facilitator at the University of Toronto for the past three years.

Beaulieu is passionately committed to serving the Aboriginal community of Toronto and is a proud Métis scholar, clinician, and community member. Congratulations on this great achievement!

Métis Self Employment Success Story

Submitted by Stéphanie and Marie-Claude Vignola

The Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) was established in 1996. MNO receives funding from the federal government through the Canadian Métis Self Employment (MSE) program of research examines the supports and challenges of Métis traditional knowledge in addressing the life transition needs (mental health, education and employment) of urban Métis homeless peoples.

Beaulieu is also the current Supervisor of Aboriginal Engagement and Outreach at the Centre for Addiction and Mental Health. Before taking on her role as President of the MNO Toronto and York Métis Council, she held the position of MNO Infinite Reach Facilitator at the University of Toronto for the past three years.

Thankful for “chance of a lifetime”

Submitted by Stéphanie and Marie-Claude Vignola

The following is a thank you letter the Métis Nation of Ontario (MNO) received from Stéphanie Vignola:

I would like to thank you for giving me the chance of a lifetime: going to college! This past spring, I graduated from Canadore College with academic honours from a two-year course in Community and Justice Services. This truly gave me the opportunity to put to good use my communication and leadership skills and to follow a dream that I have always had. I know that I am on the right path to pursuing my career of choice and to give back to the community just like the Métis Nation of Ontario did for me. I am a proud Métis and process the necessary tools to help others in my chosen field like others have helped me in the past. It has been a great privilege for me to take this course at Canadore College and many thanks again to the Métis Nation of Ontario for making this dream a reality, and thanks to my Aboriginal roots! Without you I wouldn’t have gone through this life-changing journey. Thanks again for everything and a special thank you to MNO staff member Linda Krause for her guidance and support.
